

HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION WILL MEET HERE

Hospital Cares For 7,062 In Ten Years

Hospital Activities For Past Year Reviewed At Annual Meeting

COMPLETE TEN YEARS

The annual meeting of York County Hospital was held in the council chambers on Friday evening with H. P. Gilman in the chair. Not a single person outside the board, however, turned up at the meeting.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, J. J. McCaffrey, showed that during the year ending Sept. 30, 995 patients were treated, an increase of 208 over last year; 345 from Newmarket, 609 from other parts of York county and 41 from other parts of Ontario.

The number of obstetrical cases was 168, which was 37 more than during the previous year. The total number of hospital days for the year was 10,822 at a per diem cost of $2.40. The financial statement shows receipts in excess of last year and a corresponding increase in the expenses.

During the year Miss E. Dulmage, R.N., who gave faithful and efficient services as superintendent for 14 years, tendered her resignation, which was accepted with regret by the board. Miss Hill, R.N., was appointed superintendent and Miss Monkman was selected as assistant superintendent.

During the year the board received payment of the Hon. E. J. Davis bequest of $10,000. This was deeply appreciated.

The president, George D. Wark, in reviewing the year expressed his appreciation of the support given the hospital by the various committees and other members of the board.

"The doctors of Newmarket and surrounding towns gave splendid support to the hospital and deserve the thanks of this board," he said. "We also appreciate the splendid assistance given by the Hospital Aid and the efficient services rendered by the superintendent, the members of the nursing staff and other employees. We thank Mr. Geo. Vale for his yearly audit of the books which is done as a contribution to the hospital."

"We are just completing ten years in the present hospital building and a short review of the activities for that period may be interesting. During the ten years we rendered service to 7,062 patients; 2,900 from Newmarket, 3,911 from other parts of York county and 249 from outside York county. The number of births during the ten years was 1,172. During the first year patients were admitted to the hospital; 150 from Newmarket, 247 from other parts of York county and nine from outside the county. During the last year ending Sept. 30, 1937, service was rendered to 995 patients; 345 from Newmarket, 609 from other parts of York county and 41 from outside the county."

"During the ten years a $3,000 elevator was installed, $14,000 was expended for new equipment and furnishings and $10,000 spent in repairs to buildings and other property. Other payments were salaries of staff $94,700; all food supplies, $33,800; drugs, medicine and surgical supplies, $10,885; fuel, $10,075; insurance, $3,979; laundry, $5,694; light power and water, $5,095; cleaning supplies, $1,450."

"Our present assets, after allowing a reserve for depreciation on buildings and equipment of $17,575, have a book value of $84,504.55."

Officers Re-elected

Following the general meeting the board met and re-elected the officers and the house committee: honorary president, Sir Wm. Mulock; president, Geo. D. Wark; vice-president, W. H. Pearson; secretary-treasurer, J. J. McCaffrey; house committee, P. W. Pearson, W. H. Eves, Geo. D. Wark. Members of the board re-elected were J. S. Law, K. M. R. Stiver and Geo. D. Wark.

TOWN ACCOUNTS PAID

Accounts passed at a town council meeting Monday evening included: Roadhouse and Rose, $40; $3.50; W. C. Curtis, $2.10; Newmarket Flour Mills, $32.50; The Newmarket Era, voters' list, $230; McGregor Men's Wear, $15; pay sheet 10, $75; Kenneth Mount, $6.75; County of York, $200.75; C. F. Broadway, $35; G. Johnston, $12; C. F. Willis, $40; Dunn's Garage, $34.11; F. Young, $17.85; Elton Armstrong, $67; Dr. S. J. Boyd, B. W. Hunter and N. L. Mathews, selecting jurors, each $5.

DEER HUNTERS SET OUT FOR NORTH

Among Newmarket deer hunters are Geo. West, Yonge St., and W. H. Eves, who go on Saturday with the Bradford hunt club for a two weeks trip to Padgett, near Sudbury.

Aubrey Davis and E. J. Davis left Wednesday night for two weeks hunting at the Horseshoe hunt club at Dwight.

Hospital Aid

The annual report of the Women's Aid of York County hospital, for the year ending Oct. 31, 1937, was submitted by Mrs. K. M. R. Stiver, secretary, as follows:

"The Aid undertakes to supply the hospital and nurses' residence with linens, blankets, dishes, cutlery and other like necessities, and during the year these requirements have been maintained."

In addition, new drapes were furnished for the living room of the residence; also several magazines have been subscribed to, to be sent to the hospital for the use of the patients. At Christmas time trees were decorated in the wards and Christmas cheer was provided for the nurses, as well as favors for the patients' trays.

"Due to the supplies on hand, it was not necessary to raise as much money as in previous years. In December we sponsored a play presented by the York Players and a Valentine dance was held in the high school in February. Also a souvenir coronation tea was held in the Bugle Band hall in May, with very satisfactory results."

"Suitable boxes for saving banks for coppers were secured and distributed by each member to friends, to be collected at the end of the year."

"Through the kindness of friends, the supply of baby clothing kept on hand at the hospital has been replenished when necessary."

"The Aid wishes to express its appreciation for the kind donations from time to time, and for the generous responses to its appeals."

J. L. R. BELL PURCHASES ROBERTSON BUSINESS

J. L. R. Bell has taken over the insurance business of K. N. Robertson. Mr. Bell already has an insurance business of his own, and is well known in Newmarket and district.

RELIEF COSTS TAKE A JUMP

Relief cost $1,064.20 in October compared with $740 in October of last year, Councillor George Williams, chairman of the relief committee, reported to the town council on Monday evening.

Food cost $531 and fuel cost $309, Mr. Williams reported.

"How many are on relief who are able to work?" asked Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"Ten or 11," Mr. Williams said.

FORMER N. H. S. STUDENT TALKS

Erin Currey Tells Velma Wildfield Circle Of Her Mission Work

The thank offering meeting of the Velma Wildfield mission circle of Trinity United church was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Maitland on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27.

A substantial bale of clothing and toys is being packed for adults and children of the most burned out district of Saskatchewan.

Miss Erin Currey, B.A., formerly a Newmarket high school student, was the speaker. Miss Currey is now employed in city mission work at Queen St. United church, Toronto.

Miss Currey made her subject very interesting by citing her responsibilities and activities in an average week's round of work.

The large attendance showed appreciation of and interest in Miss Currey's work. A social hour brought the evening to a close.

WILL MEET WITH TRINITY YOUNG PEOPLE

There will be no meeting of the Senior Christian Endeavour of the Christian church next Tuesday evening, but instead, the society will be guests of Trinity United church young people on Monday evening, Nov. 8, at 8 o'clock. The Christian church society is conducting the devotional program and it is hoped that all members and friends will be on hand to enjoy this return visit to Trinity young people.

REVISE ASSESSMENTS

The Newmarket court of revision to consider appeals from the assessment meets on Monday, Oct. 28, at 10 o'clock. The court consists of Reeve Dr. W. D. Dales, Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale, Councillors Robinson, Williams and Osborne.

Poppy Day

"The wearing of a poppy is more than remembrance for our dead," is part of the message of Hon. C. G. Power, federal minister of pensions and national health. "It is memory, and gratitude, for the living; gratitude, and a helping hand, for the loved ones of those who died; for the thousands of others, who seared by the marks of war, came back and remain among us as a challenge to our citizenship."

Saturday will be Poppy Day in Newmarket. The local Veterans have a splendid financial report for the past year, with over $400 of a $500 budget going to the relief of distressed comrades.

VETERANS WILL TAG SATURDAY

Association Is Keeping Needy Veterans Off Relief, Council Told

"We have been able to keep every needy veteran off relief," Alfred Smith told the town council on Monday evening, in asking for a tag day on Saturday for the Veterans.

"Every cent we get goes back to relief," he stated.

Mr. Smith also asked for the free use of the town hall on Friday, Nov. 12, for an amateur contest.

"We brought 119 yards of gravel in for $108," said Councillor Wm. Dixon. "We saved only $10, but the money was spent in town. The other way most of the money goes to the owner of the gravel pit."

"You are competing with town truckers, who will have to go on relief," said Councillor Arthur Evans.

"I don't think three tags should be allowed within one month," said Councillor Arthur D. Evans. "There is plenty for each, but Nov. 11 is the only time the poppy day can be held. A tag day should have three weeks clear. I asked that the Children's Aid tag day should not be held near poppy day. This has happened before. I have had a lot of complaints."

Councillor A. V. Higginson said that next year he would make the council a chart for tag days to hang on the council chamber wall.

The council complied with both the requests of the veterans.

WIDOW OF LATE GEORGE WATSON, PHOEBE CLARA SECRET DIED AFTER TWO YEARS ILLNESS AT HOME OF HER DAUGHTER, MRS. FRED COUPLAND, MILLARD AVE., ON TUESDAY.

Born in Essex, England, she was married in the old country and came to Newmarket 26 years ago with her husband and only child, now Mrs. Coupland. Her husband, who worked with the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co., died 14 years ago.

She was a chartered member and a past-mistress of L.O.B.A. No. 173. She was a member of the Anglican church.

Two sisters survive in the old country. She leaves also her only daughter and one grandson, Leonard Coupland.

Rev. A. J. Patstone will conduct the funeral service tomorrow afternoon. Pallbearers will be T. C. Watson, Wm. Wright, Ralph McCann, Roy Rhinehart, W. L. Bosworth, Frank Bennett. Interment will be at Newmarket cemetery.

GUEST COUNCILLOR OBSERVES PROCEDURE

Councillor Gordon Kemp of Geraldton was an interested guest at a town council meeting on Monday evening. Toward the end of the meeting he was introduced to the council by N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

"Geraldton has just been incorporated and I was fortunate enough to be made a member of the first council," said Mr. Kemp. "We haven't any rules of procedure, and after hearing you tonight I wonder if you have. You don't take your work too seriously, and yet you get it done all the same."

HOT SUPPER WILL BE WEDNESDAY

Organization is nearing completion in connection with the hot turkey supper to be served at the Christian church, Newmarket, next Wednesday evening, Nov. 10, commencing at 5:30 sharp. This event is the social highlight of the church and has always enjoyed a good reputation as to quantity and quality and this year promises to be no exception.

Piano Team Give Recital

Opening a possible series of musical evenings, depending on the public interest indicated, Plickering College is inviting the public to attend a two-piano recital by Scott Malcolm and Reginald Giddens next Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Those attending are asked to subscribe $1 for the season or 35 cents for single admissions. Students of local schools are given a special rate of 50 cents for the season or 15 cents admission.

Vale, Dixon Are Opposed

On a request for an indefinite expenditure which might run from $250 to $800 for improvement of the fair grounds to provide the fair grounds with an additional stable and a grandstand, Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale and Councillor Wm. Dixon called for a recorded vote at the town council meeting Monday night.

Councillor Wm. Dixon voted with Mr. Vale against the motion, and other members of the council voted for it. It was requested that details of the proposed improvement should not be given in the press at the present time in order that it might be carried out as economically as possible.

A. C. West, P. G. Legge, Frank Courtney and Frank Bowser presented the request to the council as an exceptional opportunity to improve the fair grounds to the extent of many times the outlay necessary.

Mr. Vale contended that the council should not over-spend its budget on a project in which, he said, a majority of citizens were not interested.

NEW HIGHWAY WILL BE DISCUSSED NEXT WEEK

Invitations have gone out for a dinner in honor of the Central Ontario Highway Association, to be held in the King George hotel next Wednesday evening. The town of Newmarket is the host. Following the dinner a meeting of the association, called by the president, Alderman James Dutton, Peterborough, will be held in the town hall. The public is invited to attend and hear details of the proposed cross-country highway.

The Citizens' band will give a band concert in the hall preceding the meeting from 8.15 to 8.45 p.m.

WOMEN HEAR MRS. R. A. SELF 25TH WEDDING CELEBRATED

A reception was held last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Niles, Gorham St., in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. The living-room was tastefully decorated with ferns, roses and mauve chrysanthemums, making a very pretty setting for the occasion. On a table in the living-room was a silver basket containing 25 red roses, and a silver service, the gift of their children to Mr. and Mrs. Niles.

The hostess wore a becoming gown of midnight blue crepe with silver trimming and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The three children, Mr. Wesley Niles and Misses Olive and Doreen Niles, received with their parents. Miss Olive Niles wore a frock of rose velvet, with a corsage of bronze mums, and little Doreen wore peach taffeta, trimmed with green velvet, and a bouquet of sweet-heart tea roses. Miss Marion Johns, niece of the hostess, attended the door, wearing a dress of brown taffeta, trimmed with gold velvet and wore yellow roses. Tea was served in the dining-room, where the table was laid with a lace cloth and decorated with a silver basket of talisman roses in the centre and matching candles. Silver was used for serving. Mrs. W. Epworth and Mrs. Paul Arlitt of Newmarket poured tea in the afternoon and Mrs. E. Adams of Newmarket and Mrs. Bert Meek of Toronto poured tea in the evening. Assistants were Miss Pearl Richards, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Eldred Fockler, all of Toronto.

Miss Peter Johns of Toronto, sister of the hostess, looked after the guests in the dining-room, wearing blue velvet, with a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Douglas McClure of Pleasantville, niece of the hostess, assisted in the hall.

Rev. R. J. D. Simpson and Mrs. Simpson attended the anniversary, Mr. Simpson being the minister who performed the marriage ceremony 25 years ago.

Many beautiful gifts of silver were received, and many letters and cards of congratulations. Some 60 friends called during the afternoon and evening.

Among the out of town guests were: Rev. and Mrs. R. J. D. Simpson, Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Wilkinson and Miss Madeline Wilkinson, Mrs. S. Wells, Miss Eldred Fockler, Miss Pearl Richards, Miss Helen Wilson, Mrs. Peter Johns and daughter, Marion, Mr. W. J. Webster, Miss Rae Tait, Miss Jean Alexander, Mr. Bill Tait, Mr. and Mrs. W. Draper, Mr. and Mrs. A. Meek, all of Toronto; Mrs. F. Brillinger of Sutton, Wm. E. McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McFarland, and Master Francis McFarland, Holt, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hancock, Toronto.

MRS. WATSON DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Widow of the late George Watson, Phoebe Clara Secret died after two years illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Coupland, Millard Ave., on Tuesday.

Born in Essex, England, she was married in the old country and came to Newmarket 26 years ago with her husband and only child, now Mrs. Coupland. Her husband, who worked with the Office Specialty Manufacturing Co., died 14 years ago.

She was a chartered member and a past-mistress of L.O.B.A. No. 173. She was a member of the Anglican church.

Two sisters survive in the old country. She leaves also her only daughter and one grandson, Leonard Coupland.

Rev. A. J. Patstone will conduct the funeral service tomorrow afternoon. Pallbearers will be T. C. Watson, Wm. Wright, Ralph McCann, Roy Rhinehart, W. L. Bosworth, Frank Bennett. Interment will be at Newmarket cemetery.

ERIC PENDLETON SPEAKS

Eric Pendleton of Toronto was the speaker at the Sunday afternoon meeting of the British Israel Federation. He is a particularly fluent speaker and carries his hearers along without a break from start to finish. He always attracts a large number to hear him on every occasion he comes.

In the course of his talk he compared the luxury of the king, king of Judah, with modern times, and suggested the second book of Chronicles 28 to 30 and the book of Joel for home study.

BARRELS OF COPPERS WILL BE COLLECTED

There is no limit to the quantity of coppers to be collected for the Lions children's work this year. One year the collection was limited to a "mile." Another year it was limited to a "ton."

The Lions executive held a meeting the other night and decided, in view of the great need of the underprivileged children of Newmarket, to lift all limits. The copper collectors don't want any weights or distances holding them back. They will collect "barrels of coppers."

Householders are asked to save those coppers and the collectors will be around on Saturday, Nov. 27.

DIVISION COURT HOLDS SHORT SESSION HERE

Judge Field presided over division court here on Wednesday. Judge Field had to return at noon to attend another court in Toronto and several cases had to be adjourned until the January session of the court. Fred B. Thompson, the new clerk, took over his duties and was congratulated by the judge.

WILL MEET TUESDAY

The November meeting of the Evangelical Auxiliary of the United church will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, in the church parlors, under the leadership of group three. This is the last meeting before the bazaar and a full attendance is requested.

SANTA NEEDS $400 FOR HIS LITTLE FOLKS

Santa Claus Sends Out Urgent Appeal For Your Help

MANY CHILDREN NEEDY

With a budget of $1,300 for its activities until June 30 of next year, the Lions club now has on hand, as the result of the recent carnival, $700. There is still to be raised by some means $600 to carry out necessary work on behalf of the underprivileged children of Newmarket.

The budget includes $400 for Christmas help to needy families and $300 for the new park for the benefit of mothers and children principally.

The club provided Christmas for 287 children last year, and will be called upon to care for at least as many again this year.

Santa Claus is counting on your help. At the same time Santa Claus can help you to do your Christmas good turns. There are a lot of homes you would rather spare those homes any embarrassment.

It is easier for the Lions club Santa Claus to help than it is for the private individual.

Gifts may be made to the local newspaper offices, to any member of the Lions club or to P. J. Tod, Bank of Montreal, or to H. E. Lambert, Bank of Toronto.

TAG NETS $120 FOR CHILDREN

A meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be held in the United church parlors on Monday evening, at 7.30 p.m. to start work on Christmas cheer for Newmarket children. All those interested in helping to make a better Christmas for the little ones will be heartily welcome. Donations of new or used toys or books will be gratefully received. Phone 93 or 92 and they will be called for.

The Aid wishes to thank all those who worked so unthinkingly to make the tag day a success and those who gave so generously that this most worthy while work may continue. They are very pleased to report that the proceeds of the tag day are approximately $120.

TOWN CONSTABLE STUDIES IN TORONTO

Constable James Sloss will attend the Ontario and Municipal police training school in Toronto from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15, according to an announcement made by Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale at the town council meeting Monday evening. The council passed a resolution giving the necessary authority.

"You will remember that the plan was to have Sloss attend this school this fall, and to have Mount attend next spring," said Mr. Vale.

Board 25 In Neighborhood

Following a request from J. O. Little, former warden of York county council, Newmarket town council voted $50 to the York County Children's Aid Society at a meeting on Monday evening.

"The Children's Aid Society have 19 children in Newmarket and pay $10 a month board for them," said Reeve Dr. W. D. Dales. "There are six more near town. That makes $100 a month. Mrs. W. H. S. Cane is responsible for these children being boarded here."

MISS MARIE LAUDER WILL SPEAK TO Y.P.S.

On Monday, Nov. 8 the Christian Endeavour of the Christian church will be the guests of Trinity Y.P.S. and will conduct the program, followed by games and lunch, organized by Trinity Y.P.S.

On Nov. 22 at Trinity Y.P.S. Miss Marie Lauder, former member of the Newmarket high school staff and worker in young people's societies, will speak on "My Trip Abroad."

Coming Events

FRIDAY, Nov. 12—The W. A. of Trinity United Church are holding a Remembrance Tea and Talent Sale from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Buy your cakes, pies and tarts. c2w40

WED., NOV. 10—Hot fowl supper, Christian Church. Particulars later. c3w38

FRIDAY, NOV. 12.—Newmarket Veterans amateur contest.

FRIDAY, NOV. 19.—Newmarket Firemen's annual euchre and dance.

Prepare For Town Vote

Officials for the approaching municipal election were named at the town council meeting on Monday evening: St. George's, 1A, real-estate, John Dolan, presiding officer, W. J. Broughton, clerk; 1B, home of John Enla, Fred Penrose, Morley Chalk, home of John Enla, Milton Cook, Chas. Thompson.

Andrew's, 2A, market building, Joseph Brammer, John Duffield; 2B, market building, B. W. Hunter, Geo. Kirkby.

St. Patrick's, 3A, Temperance hall, Wm. White, Ralph Adams; Temperance hall, Stanley Stephens, John Greenwood.

Bond Well Tests Best Test Hole To Be Made

Town Ran Short During Servicing Of Srigley Well

SIMCOE WATER TESTED

Servicing of the Srigley St. well has not been completed, and no recommendation on further steps to ensure an adequate supply of water can be made until the results of the servicing are known. W. B. Redfern, town engineer, reported to a council meeting on Monday evening.

Equipment for the treatment of the water, to prevent it picking up iron in the mains, is being borrowed through the good offices of the provincial department of health, Mr. Redfern reported.

Mr. Redfern gave the council the result of tests of samples of water from various possible new water supplies: Bogartown creek, at Srigley, hardness, 174 parts per million, iron oxide, 2 parts per million; Ben Howard's well, 216, 8; James Bond well, 237, 5; D. W. Kenny, 224, 8; Bogartown creek at 4th, 257, 15; water at mayor's house while Srigley well in use, 270, 9; Lake Simcoe, 145, negligible.

"Ideal hardness is from 60 to 80," Mr. Redfern said. "Toronto water from Lake Ontario is 110. You get the iron content by multiplying the iron oxide content by 7. The result should be not more than 3."

The town was short of water on Saturday and it was necessary to telephone London and Windsor to get the company's authority to put the pump back in temporary. Councillor W. W. Osborne, chairman of the water and light committee, informed the council.

"It may cost us $50," said Mr. Osborne.

"Isn't there some chemical quality in the water which causes it to pick up iron?" asked N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

"Yes," said Mr. Redfern.

"Well, can that quality be analysed so that we will know what it is?"

"I don't think so," said Mr. Redfern.

"There was very little wear on the pump, as I expected," said Mr. Redfern. "I don't think they will finish for another seven or eight days. They are going to put the pump farther down in the well. Seventy feet of pipe in the lower level of the well was filled with sand."

"What would be your recommendation with regard to the various wells?" asked Councillor W. W. Osborne.

"Well, the Bond well is the best water, and I would sink that test well you were talking about near the Bond well," said Mr. Redfern. "I would like to know if that well is grounded in sand or gravel. Sand has given us all our trouble."

"How much water is there?" asked Councillor Frank Robinson.

"Thirty gallons a minute, a two-inch pipe, about the same as the others," said Mr. Redfern.

"You couldn't take the water from Cook's Bay," said Mr. Osborne.

"You can't use it on a windy day," said Councillor Arthur Evans.

"Some of the lake cottages have their own wells," said Councillor Wm. Dixon. "Barrie used to get its water from Lake Simcoe, but had to sink artesian wells."

"The water has to be treated to take care of impurities," said Reeve Dr. W. D. Dales.

YOUNG MEN RESUME SUNDAY MEETINGS

The Pathfinder class of Trinity United church will once again commence its fall term. All members and all young men wishing to become members are asked to meet in the classroom at 2.30 Sunday afternoon. Dr. Vandervoort has been asked to carry on as teacher as he has so ably done in the past.

Prompt payment of your subscription when due is appreciated.

SEND GIFT BOX TO NORTHWEST

Mrs. Rosamond Makes Lovely Quilt For Clergyman's Wife

Last Thursday afternoon St. Paul's W.A. met to pack their usual box of Christmas gifts for the needy white settlers of the Canadian north west and also the bale of warm discarded clothing for the sufferers in the drought area of Saskatchewan.

Quite a number of visitors, as well as the members, joined in the pleasant task of wrapping the many useful gifts in fancy paper and boxes with plenty of gaily colored ribbon and cord, and a good supply of Christmas seals, which they tried to select as appropriate to the age of the one to receive the gift. A Christmas tag on each parcel stated whether it was for an infant, a small boy or small girl, a young lady or a young man, a gentleman or lady, so that the parcels need not be opened till they reach their destination.

There were over 90 gifts, among which were, as usual, a good many "mothers' bags," which different members take and fill with all sorts of useful things in small ware, ranging from knitting needles and enough wool for a pair of men's socks, with directions for knitting them as well, to hair-nets and tubes of shaving cream and tooth-paste. The assortment of articles in each was varied and useful, and the bale in each case crammed full.

The bale of used clothing was particularly splendid and the executive of St. Paul's W.A. wish to thank all members, and all friends, who helped, for their generous contributions in both cases.

One gift was a splendid quilt made by one of the oldest members of St. Paul's W.A., Mrs. Rosamond, and sent particularly to a clergyman's wife. Members and all others interested are asked to remember the meeting when there will be shown the coronation pictures, in connection with a travelogue, on Monday evening, Nov. 22.

RALPH CONNOR

Ralph Connor is gone. Born in Glengarry county, he wrote of all parts of the dominion, Ontario, the west particularly, Cape Breton in the Maritimes, and Quebec. To us he has been the outstanding Canadian novelist. He was a Canadian and he wrote of Canada. We don't suppose that the youngster of today takes very seriously "mounties" and Indians, but there was a wonderful thrill for the youngster of yesterday in "Corporal Cameron" and the "Patrol of the Sun Dance Trail." Perhaps these novels will be soon forgotten. Besides them Ralph Connor has left Canada a son who has dedicated himself, together with many other earnest young men, to the rebuilding of the Canadian economic and social structure. Prof. King Gordon is already one of the best known men in Canada and may well play an important role in public affairs as the years pass on.

LOCAL THEATRE

Now is the time for merchants to organize themselves together for a better business effort. A little co-operation and a little ingenuity could draw even larger crowds to this town for Saturday shopping. We recently read a suggestion, from an American, that every shopping town should have a hog-calling contest, horse-shoe pitching contests, bicycle races, in fact, a county fair, every Saturday in the year to draw the country folks to town. We North Yorkers don't go in for hog-calling, but the country people should be made to feel that the town stores are anxious to serve them and appreciate their business. Our suggestion is that the town merchants should put on a free or "nickel" matinee at the local theatre every Saturday morning. Good stores are necessary, but after good stores the local newspaper and the local theatre are the two greatest assets of any shopping town.

ACCURATE NEWS

A great many protests are going to Ottawa about the Aberhart attempt to "muzzle" the press of his province. The legislation, to which the lieutenant-governor of the province has not yet assented, is entitled "An Act to Ensure the Publication of Accurate News and Information." Now if it is possible to pass legislation which will prevent mistakes and inaccuracies in newspapers, we are all for it. You might expect this act to be worded somewhat as follows:

"Whereas mistakes have from time to time occurred in the newspapers of this province, it is hereby enacted as follows:

"1. No newspaper shall make a mistake in spelling, except that it shall not be an offence under the act to omit the letter 'u' from the suffix 'our'.

"2. No reporter shall write that he has seen the first robin when in reality he has seen a starling.

"3. No editor shall pass a first-robin report along to the typesetter without first going out and seeing the robin himself.

"4. No typesetter shall put such a report into type without having himself seen the said robin.

"5. "8. No newspaper shall be penalized for saying that 'the happy couple will live on their social credit dividends' if, through circumstances over which the government of this province has no control, such dividends are not being paid at the time the newspaper shall appear on the street."

Cold Reality

But is that what you find in the Alberta legislation to "ensure the publication of accurate news and information"? It is not. Imagine our disappointment when we learned that none of the above sections have been included, and that the legislation provides that every newspaper must publish when required to do so by the chairman of the Social Credit Board any statement furnished by the chairman relating to:

"(a) the objects of any policies of the government of the province;

"(b) the means being taken or intended to be taken by the government for the purpose of attaining such objects; and

"(c) the circumstances, matters and things which hinder or make difficult the achievement of any such objects."

This information would be published free of charge, to the extent of one page of any issue of a daily newspaper, or one-tenth of the space of a weekly newspaper.

The legislation also requires newspapers to disclose the source of their news. When someone telephones in a "hot tip" to a newspaper, the editor will have to make a careful record of the name of the informant in case the government wants to know later on. For instance, if a newspaper hears that the government member in a certain constituency is likely to be defeated, the government will want to know the source of that news.

This Alberta government isn't fooling, and if provisions of the legislation are broken, the government can order the newspaper to suspend publication, and may also impose fines of $500 on persons contravening "any of the provisions of this act or who makes any default in complying with any requirement made in pursuance of this act."

It is almost like a fairy tale. We can't believe that things like this are happening in Canada. Say what we like, the fact remains that a lot of people, perhaps a majority of the people of Alberta, are supporting the Aberhart government in spite of the opposition and criticism of the entire press of the province. The sufferings of the people of that province in the last seven years have surely been terrific to prepare the soil for such a far-fetched regime. Any action which the federal government takes to veto Alberta legislation should be accompanied by effective action to improve the economic lot of the people of Alberta. It is our failure to take moderate action today, to deal, for instance, with the unemployment problems of Montreal and Toronto, which is preparing the ground for stormy and ever-stronger communist movements. Incidentally, those who are the slowest to move, the first to oppose moderate measures of alleviation of the unjust economic conditions of today, are the very ones who have the most to lose if communism proves the harvest we reap. We may sow the wind of reaction and reap the whirlwind of communism.

MORE ABOUT 1857

Here are a couple more items we meant to give last week, in commemoration of the 80th anniversary of the incorporation of Newmarket as a village.

Newmarket then had a flourishing Mechanics' Institute, which satisfied, by means of lectures, the intellectual hunger of a public not surfeited, as we are today, with a wealth of reading matter and radio harangue. In 1857 there were apparently weekly lectures. The Era of Feb. 13, 1857, regrets that lack of space made it impossible "to refer to the lectures delivered by Prof. Geike and Prof. Robertson, although of a deeply interesting character and affording much information and gratification to the members of the Institute," and goes on to give an account of the more recent lecture of J. G. Hodgins, Esq., on "Early History of Canada." "He was repeatedly cheered during the course of his remarks. There was one thing connected with the lecture which prevented its being appreciated as highly as it would otherwise have been—the gentleman's vocal powers were insufficient to fill the large room, and many could not hear; but the lecture itself was really a good one, and of high merit."

An account of a "church meeting" indicates that even 80 years ago the "standing room only" sign was not always needed. "A church meeting was held, pursuant to announcement, on the 9th inst., in the Union Sabbath room. Rev. S. F. Ramsay opened the meeting by prayer, after which he was called to fill the chair. He said he was sorry to see so few present on this occasion, he was sorry that so little interest was manifested; and he could only account for it from the fact that meetings of this kind, connected with the church, were a new thing and not properly understood."

POLICE COURT RESULTS

The new police court here seems to be creating business. Motorists who were previously allowed to drive through this town at 45 miles an hour now frequently find themselves in court. The large volume of business which comes before the local court has not all been taken from the county police court in Toronto. Many of the charges would not have been laid if it had been necessary for police and witnesses to travel all the way to Toronto. It isn't a good thing to have people appearing in police court, but it is better than to have people become careless of law. Particularly, the new police court should have a good effect in reducing the number of liquor offences. The number of fines already imposed for having opened liquor in automobiles should be a warning to others. In one such case, before the court this week, the car overturned and a man was killed as a result.

STANDING ALONE

Credit must always go to the man who dares to stand alone. It is not easy to stand out against the crowd for the thing that you think is right. It doesn't make you feel popular. It doesn't give you any satisfaction except the satisfaction of knowing that you were true to yourself and your ideals. Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale is frequently the leader of a "forlorn hope" in the council chamber. Sometimes we think he is wrong and sometimes we think he is right, but he is always right to stand for the thing which he believes is right. On Monday night Mr. Vale took an unpopular position, in the face of a delegation which was asking the council to spend money, and with only one of his fellow councillors supporting him. He believed that he was acting in the best interests of the town and in accordance with the wishes of a majority of citizens, and he will be respected by even those who think he was mistaken.

Dr. Garnet Tanner, former Liberal member for East Simcoe, says that because he was defeated in the recent election, Midland will get no more "spoon-feeding." He said also that the government would abandon plans for paving the Midland-Orillia highway. Apparently, Dr. Tanner was a very popular member but Midland voted against him, the rest of the riding giving him a majority of 300. It is generally true that a government supporter secures more favors for his riding than an opposition member, but no government can afford to discriminate openly against a particular riding. The Hepburn government is not likely to do so.

It is nice to live in a country town at any time of the year, but we think it is particularly nice just now. These bright autumn days, with their swirling leaves, invigorating breezes and welcome sunshine, are a delight to everyone, and there is no better place to enjoy them.

Dr. Thomas H. Hogg seems to have qualifications which should make him a capable Hydro-Electric Commission chairman. He is an engineer, not a politician. The Ontario Hydro is the most important single enterprise of the people of Ontario. The prosperity, employment and standard of living of the people of the province will vary in accordance with the success and efficiency of the Hydro enterprise.

A November Gossip Is Interrupted

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Did you see and hear that huge flock of Geese going south last evening?" Cora Chickadee asked her friend, Mrs. Downy Woodpecker. "Newmarket seems to be on the main route of the Geese, this year. Such a lot of them have been seen this fall." "No, I didn't see the Geese, but I saw a tremendous crowd of Blackbirds a day or two ago. I suppose they were mostly Red-wings," Mrs. Pecker answered. "We will certainly be seeing the last of lots of our friends this month. A lot of the Sparrows are leaving now, too."

"I went over to say good-bye to Mrs. Phoebe yesterday morning," Cora said. "She went away yesterday. I was sorry to see her go, she's such a nice little soul. She's not a social mixer like we are, and keeps more or less to herself and her own family, but she's always cheerful and friendly. I don't like a complaining bird like Handsome, the Blue Jay, or Blackie, the Crow, or Mr. Kingfisher. They always seem to be scolding someone."

"Yes, there are quite a few scolders among the birds, and that awful scolding rattle the Kingfisher's is rather trying at times," agreed Mrs. Pecker. "However, he's leaving for South Carolina this week. But I think that those Gulls are worse scolders than the Kingfishers, when they start screaming and shrieking."

"Speaking of shrieking reminds me that most of those squeaking, quarrelsome Grackles, that haven't left before this, are going today," put in Cora. "Why they always stick together in such large groups, when they nag and squawk at each other so much, is beyond me. They say that they're not quarrelling, but just talking, when they make those awful sounds, but I just can't believe it. Their voices are so harsh and tinny."

"Well, you know, everyone can't have a sweet little whistle and a nice speaking voice, too, like you Chickadees have," said Mrs. Pecker. "I only wish I had such a pleasant voice. Everyone always likes to hear your cheerful little 'Chicka-dee-dee-dee,' and they love your two-noted whistle. We Woodpeckers don't slag at all, we just say 'peck' and it's so unromantic and matter-of-fact. My little daughter was heartbroken this summer when I finally got her to understand that I couldn't teach her a pretty song such as Carol Song-sparrow was teaching her child."

The Common Round

By Isabel Inglis Colville

"And It Rained"

As a special day always begins the evening before, the weather was of vital importance to me on the evening of Oct. 21. From a window facing where the sunset should be—and wasn't—I turned away with a despondent sigh, for a dull grey veil seemed to have been drawn across the heavens. To comfort myself I recalled the saying of an old friend who always maintained that Friday was different—the weather—from any other day in the week.

Now, as a rule, I scorn signs and omens—but one grasps at a straw when sinking and so I grasped at this old belief.

But like the proverbial straw it broke easily, and in the morning, when the grim grey sky looked like a huge umbrella which leaked at every seam, I gave up, once and for all, my faith in weather omens, and resigned myself to make the best of it.

"Well," said I, to mother, "the baking has to be done anyway."

"There's one thing," she replied, severely, "nearly everyone has cars, and everyone who wants to go, will go; it's not like horse and buggy days."

So, as the morning wore on, and I heard from one and another institute member that in spite of the weather they were baking and roasting, I felt that the "At Home" would go on, unless a volcano suddenly erupted in our midst, or the Bogartown creek went on a rampage and flooded the roads.

And so, the afternoon came and more and more steadily the water oozed from the leaden sky, but when a good Samaritan, in the form of an Institute's husband, came, we were all ready to be conveyed to the schoolhouse.

It was the first time I had been in the basement since the hydro had brought in artificial daylight, and the difference between fighting an often losing battle with a gasoline lamp or lantern and turning an electric switch was delightfully apparent. Soon we were all busily employed scooping out pumpkins or putting black and orange frills round their necks, for these, filled with shining red apples formed the table decorations.

As each new member put in an appearance the same old question popped out "has it stopped raining?" But an ominous shake of the head, or an emphatic "no!" didn't bring any consolation.

However, even a wretched day, can have compensations, and as more and more members and their families appeared, just so, a sort of mental sunshine soon pervaded the atmosphere, and then, a good supper is a sort of cheering thing—for the brightly lit, warm room, and the appetizing menu, of roast pork with applesauce and brown gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered carrots, with their accompaniments of rolls and pickles, and followed by pie a la every variety, and doughnuts, were in themselves, a good defence against the unpleasantness without.

After supper, an adjournment was made to the school-room for the program, which opened with "O Canada". Mr. Williams, who acted as chairman, said he had asked our president if she could think of a reason why "O Canada" was not used as often as the "Maple Leaf" and her answer was "because people are not sure of the words." Which was true, but for myself, I think the whole poem has been so frightfully mangled, reshaped and re-written, that the marvel is, it has withstood so many blows, and I am sure that if it were not for its majestic music it would long ago have faded into oblivion.

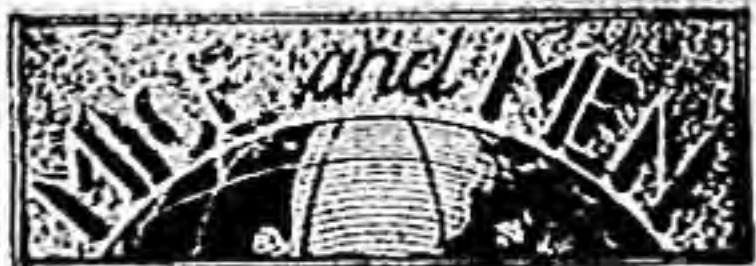

However, if I want to keep my temper, I'll not write about "O Canada," I'll write about the program. The Harper orchestra opened it with a pleasing selection, and was heard at different times during the evening. It is a delightful thing when a family has a source of entertainment within itself, and the ability as well, to entertain others.

Miss Forti gave a reading which will linger long in the memory of those who heard it, illustrating as it did, what the type neighborly spirit can do—how it can overcome barriers of religion, race and prejudice, and touch the common chord of brotherhood, which lies within all of us.

Mrs. Wick played a piano solo, which is well loved by most of us, "Narcissus," and it is pleasant to have the teachers in our schools, so ready to help in entertaining our community. Several of her pupils also took part in a folk dance. It was prettily done, and showed how readily children can be taught to combine rhythm with sound.

Mrs. Jack Skinner, who has edited the "Pine Orchard Apple Cart," for three years, gave us the current edition and it was keenly enjoyed, for its medley of fun, fancy, and facts, made it of interest to children and adults.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Chipman, was then introduced by the chairman. His topic was "Co-operation." It was a timely one, as it is a subject which seems to pervade the very atmosphere these days. He spoke of the success of co-operation in Nova Scotia; and of the various forms in which it can be used for the benefit of the many. Its returning of benefits to the people, instead of being absorbed into big business, was stressed, and the need we all have for co-operation. He said you could depend on the various co-operation activities doing exactly what they promised.

One cannot do justice to a talk which one did not take down at the time, unfortunately, but some things stayed firmly in one's memory.

Mr. Stickwood then spoke for a few minutes. He told the Institute how welcome they or any similar organization were to use the facilities at the school, and how it delighted him to see the place properly lighted. He had always striven for this and a little nagging at the right time did the deed. Mrs. Hope thanked all those who had braved the storm, all those who had taken part in the program, and also Mr. Williams for acting as chairman, and the school board for permission to use the school.

After singing "God Save The King," everyone began to think of home, and shiver at the thought of facing another down-pour. But although no moon shone, the rain had stopped and we drove homeward, happy in the thought that another milestone in our Institute branch had been successfully passed.

Mother Of Five Who Was Always Tired

Now Awakes as Fresh as a Daisy

A mother of five has a lot to do. Especially a country mother. And this one was "always tired". But Kruschen ended all that. Now she gets up, feeling fresh, at five o'clock in the morning! She writes:

"I find Kruschen Salts the best thing money can buy for my health. I am the mother of five children, and before taking Kruschen, I was always feeling tired and run down. Now, I am glad to say that I get up feeling fresh—and I get up at five o'clock in the morning. I do my housework, look after my children, and leave the house at 6:30 to start my daily work."—(Mrs.) B.

Tiredness and that run-down feeling can be traced to one root cause. That cause is internal sluggishness; failure to keep the inside free from poisonous, waste matter.

Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

LOCAL MARKET

Prices at the local market on Saturday included: eggs, grade A large, 42 cents and pullets 38; chickens were 23 cents per pound for spring grown; apples were 20 cents per six quart basket.

SUTTON
SCHOOL DANCE IS GAY AFFAIR

Sutton continuation school held its annual Halloween masquerade and dance in the high school on Friday evening. There were some 200 in attendance. The school was beautifully decorated for the occasion with streamers, all sorts of novelties and balloons.

The majority of those present were in costume presenting the most colorful spectacle seen here in some time.

The program began with an informal meeting of the literary society, during which the president, Jack Burnham, read the school paper, as prepared by the editor, Bob Dunne, assisted by Hazel Graham. The paper was composed of an editorial by Joy Brooks entitled, "To-Morrow," followed by an article "The West Appeals for Help," by Margaret Warren. There was also an account of the field day activities and results and comment on local sporting topics, including this year's hockey team.

At the conclusion of the reading of the paper, Grace Schmidt gave an address and Jack Burnham assisted in the presentation to the recently married principal, Mr. Pike, and his wife, of a lovely mantle clock as a token of the esteem in which they are held by the pupils and staff. The masquerade dance, which followed, was a huge success. The prize for the best costume was given to Bill Loneragan. Refreshments were served during intermission. As the dance resumed, the prize for the best dressed girl was awarded to Owen Pearson, as Cleopatra, with Curtis King taking the boys' honors dressed as a king.

Elton Burnham and Ross Robertson carried off the prizes in the lucky spot dance. The dances and effects were executed by Jack Burnham, and were certainly deserving of special mention.

The local boys were out on Halloween and up to the usual mischief and the cries of "shell cas" were not missing by any means. Sunday morning found the main street a dumping place for signs, old cars and telephone poles, etc. The most unusual prank of the night came to light on Sunday afternoon when John King found one of his pigs and several chickens missing. A search proved that they had been taken up to the high school, induced by the mischief-makers.

Ill for the past four years, George Raiton, son of one of the pioneer families of the district, died at his residence on Oct. 20 at the age of 50.

He was born in Virginia, son of the late William and Eliza Raiton, and was educated in Sutton. He helped with running the family farm on the Sutton line until moving to Sutton 22 years ago.

Surviving are one brother, Allan of Sutton, four sisters, Mary and Audrey of Sutton; Mrs. J. E. Arksey and Mrs. J. L. Hamilton of Toronto, and two nieces, Ruth Hamilton of Toronto and Beth Raiton of Sutton.

Rev. N. S. Anderson conducted the funeral service on Oct. 23 at Knox United church. Pallbearers were: Robert Burnham, Miller McDonald, John Shaw, Douglas Howard, David Treloar and Norman Burrows.

6TH CON. N.G.LOADED TRUCK
RUNS IN DITCH

By the look of the many teams drawing gravel on the roads last week, they should be a great deal of improvement and the weather, outside of a cold wind, was very favorable for the teams.

Halloween passed off in this community without much inconvenience to most.

The young people's party at Mrs. Albert Edney's passed off very nicely, little Twilla Seylor taking first prize for her part. The supper was enjoyed by all. The next evening was more quiet. Friends of Mrs. Walker Prosser who hear of the improvement in her health, will be pleased to know it continues.

On Saturday last a heavily loaded truck took to the ditch on the highway near Sutton. In the evening another man, a stranger, had to receive help in the same way.

This Monday morning the sunshine is welcome and the weather simply beautiful.

Farmers, as usual, are busy. The work holds out well.

VIRGINIAUSE AMPLIFIER FOR OVERFLOW

A crowd of about 200 attended the 42nd anniversary services at Virginia United church, when Rev. N. S. Anderson, the pastor, took charge of the afternoon services. Rev. Morris Zeidman, a college schoolmate of the pastor, was guest speaker at the evening service, when due to the large attendance, it was necessary to install an amplifier in order to bring the message to those seated in the basement. The celebration terminated on Monday evening, when a hot fowl supper was served, followed by a varied program in the church auditorium. The choir from Pefferlaw church assisted at both services.

W. T. EVANS DIES
IN 53RD YEAR

The largest anniversary and fowl supper of the Virginia United church was held on Sunday and Monday. Rev. C. E. Fockler of Keswick preached a very interesting sermon in the afternoon, assisted by Mr. Butler of Bethel and Mr. Robson of Wilfrid. The Pefferlaw choir was in attendance and rendered beautifully two inspiring selections.

In the evening, Rev. Morris Zeidman of Toronto, who preaches over the radio for the Protestant radio league, was the guest speaker. The largest congregation that was ever known in this church came to hear him. The church was filled and a number had to remain in the basement, where an amplifier was installed by Stewart Beare of Newmarket.

The pastor, Rev. N. S. Anderson, assisted. Mr. Robson of Wilfrid was also in the congregation and the Pefferlaw choir again thrilled and warmed the hearts of the entire congregation. On Monday evening the ladies of the congregation assisted by some of the young men, served a very appetizing hot fowl supper. After all had been served, a concert followed.

And so concluded the most successful and helpful anniversary, the fruit of which will long linger in the hearts and lives of those whose blessed privilege it was to enjoy them.

There passed away in the Toronto General Hospital last Thursday, one of Georgia's most highly respected citizens, in the person of William T. Evans, in his 53rd year. Mr. Evans farmed on the Sutton line and was one of the most faithful and active members of the Pefferlaw United church. The funeral was held on Sunday at his home by Rev. Mr. Robson, pastor of Pefferlaw church, and was very largely attended. The floral tributes, wreaths and sprays, were beautiful and testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved wife and family, in their sorrow.

Bethel

The date for the annual fowl supper made up by the friends of this appointment is being held in the community hall, Bethel, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 17, followed by a good program. The committee are sparing no effort to give a good serving at a very reasonable rate.

The W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Chesley Cryderman was well attended and a very interesting and helpful afternoon spent.

KESWICK DONS FATHER'S WEDDING GARB

The members of Sharon A.F. and A.M. held their annual ladies' night last Thursday evening. As a change from the usual banquet the Sutton theatre was rented and 60 or more were present to enjoy the picture. Jack Baines gave a very sincere word of welcome to the ladies, which was ably responded to by Mrs. Coulson Cameron.

After this part of the evening's entertainment was over, the crowd left for the Cameron tea room at Maskinonge River, where, after a time spent in playing cards, a nice lunch was served. Later some very beautiful gifts, given by draws, were presented to the lucky winners, some of whom were, Mrs. Coulson Cameron, Mrs. Dick Hamilton, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Greig.

It was a very pleasant evening and a chance to renew old friendships with masonic friends from Roche's Point, Sharon, Queensville and Keswick. The committee, Percy Mahoney, Mr. Wright, W. M. Coulson Cameron, and Jack Baines, are to be congratulated on the evening's success.

Elmhurst W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Abe Sedore last Wednesday afternoon. It was an interesting meeting, with a splendid crowd present. There was a generous response to the appeal for fruit, jam and pickles for both Sutton and York County hospitals.

Mr. Pollard gave an interesting demonstration on the making of floor mops from materials we all have in our homes and it was a practical suggestion that will be of use. A solo by Miss Joy Marritt, a reading by Mrs. Frank Marritt were also enjoyed. A paper on home economics by Mrs. Crate was given by her daughter Mrs. Strickland, and was exceptionally fine.

The usual social hour with lunch was afterward enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at Roche's Point in November. Keswick Christian church Sunday-school enjoyed a jolly masquerade party in the Sunday-school rooms on Saturday evening. The decorations, treats and lunch all carried out the Halloween theme and a good deal of merriment was caused by the costumes of both the older and younger members.

Charles Anderson, the superintendent, was very elegantly attired in the coat and broadsword vest worn by his father for his wedding in April, 1803.

The children more than enjoyed the games and good things with which they were so generously supplied. Rev. C. E. Fockler preached at both services in the United church on Sunday. In the morning he stressed the importance of growth in the Christian's life and preached a very earnest, thought-provoking sermon. Announcement was made that the mission band will meet after school on Friday and Young People's Union will be at 8 o'clock, after which there will be choir rehearsal. Also on Friday evenings during November, a class will be held at 7 o'clock for all those who intend either this autumn or at a later date to join the church. It is being held with the purpose of explaining all questions pertaining to church membership. For further details those interested are asked to inquire of Mr. Fockler.

The W.M.S. will hold its regular meeting next Wednesday afternoon.

KESWICKDO WORK FOR INJURED FRIEND

There was a wonderful spirit of kindness and neighborliness shown recently and a hard day's work done cheerfully on the farm of Raymond Morton, who is in the hospital, having had his foot severed while filling the silo. Two good friends called for volunteers to finish the corn, as there was a silo on the other farm to be filled. The second field of corn had to be cut by hand and there was a great response. Thirty men came, cut eight acres and filled the silo in one day, working as long as the men could see to load the wagons, only three loads being left.

How it cheered the patient, to have such kindness, and the men seemed to enjoy doing the good deed. It seemed to prove the words: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Mr. Cattell had a surprise birthday party this week.

Mr. Angus Cowieson had a sale of fine Jerseys last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morton had dinner with Mr. George Draper on Sunday.

Four young men went to Sudbury to work in the mines this week. Best wishes go with them.

Mrs. George Hamilton and Helen spent the weekend in the city, Helen at Sherbourne house as a guest of Miss Effie King and Mrs. Hamilton at the home of Mr. Clayton Purdy.

Mrs. S. B. Purdy is away at Buttonville seeing her sister, Mrs. Brooke, who has had a fracture of the leg.

Mr. Angus King has remodelled the smaller house on his farm and is moving there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henry, Mr. Connell Marritt, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Connell attended the memorial service held in Richmond Hill on Sunday evening for their cousin, Mrs. Harry Kane. Much sympathy is extended to the husband, who is still quite ill. There are two children left bereaved and also Mrs. Kane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Winch.

Some of the young people spent the weekend in Toronto attending parties.

Mrs. Connell Marritt was in Toronto visiting friends.

Mr. Raymond Morton is doing as well as can be expected in York County hospital.

Mrs. Jack Smith has returned from her very delightful holiday and will have some very interesting things to tell of her travels.

Mr. Art Pedlar went to Toronto this week to meet his wife who has been visiting her brother in British Columbia. She will be welcome home.

Mr. Gordon Faulkner and a friend had tea on Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. T. Mitchell, newlyweds at Boyer's crossing.

No damage was done over the weekend by Halloween pranks. The community has young people to be proud of, who enjoy lots of fun.

Miss Hazel Lamkin, who is to be married this month, spent the weekend with her parents.

A very interesting program is being planned for the Junior Farmers next Tuesday. The young people are asked to come. The young ladies provide lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Baines spent Sunday visiting friends at Aurora.

Mr. Bernard Rye's father is very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Malmes and Marion had a lovely time last week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lea of Newmarket.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus King are away on holidays.

POLICE COURT
FINED $100 IN DEATH SMASH

Having liquor in an unlawful place, keeping for sale and having liquor other than sold by the vendors were the charges against Christopher York, Roche's Point. He was remanded until next week.

Henry West pleaded guilty to theft of a set of harness. Norman Rattory pleaded guilty to receiving the stolen harness. They were remanded a week for sentence.

Rattory's son appeared to give evidence of his father's previous good character. Rattory showed the court his discharge certificate as a Boer war veteran.

Magistrate L. J. C. Bull cancelled the permit of Charles Metcalf, Aurora, and fined him $25 and costs on a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident.

He pleaded guilty to this charge and a reckless driving charge was withdrawn.

Constable Howard Jackman said that he was called to an accident on Yonge St. and that while he was carrying an injured person off the street, Motenfo disappeared.

Pleading guilty to a charge of having liquor in his car, Norman Waltho, Newtonbrook, was fined

War Is Ruining Modern China

A splendid audience met at St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening when Dr. Jessie McLean, a veteran missionary of Canton, South China, was the guest speaker. The address was very educational, along lines of progress in China. China has awakened and is becoming modern after centuries of old customs. Dr. McLean's admiration for the youth of China increases daily, she said.

"China has made marvellous progress in the last 26 years," Dr. McLean said. "It has been made great by the Chinese for the Chinese. All visible proofs of progress have been almost entirely destroyed in the last two months."

As a parting message she said, "As a Christian nation we should all be on our knees before God to ask for some restriction to be put on man to stop this dreadful war."

Other numbers on the program were the scripture lesson taken from Ephesians Chapt. 2, read by Miss Rowland and solos by Mrs. L. Little and Mrs. K. Bahr. After the meeting, dainty refreshments

WEDDINGS

DOYLE - LAVELLE

A wedding of interest to the Newmarket district took place in Toronto on Oct. 23, when Audrey Irene Lavelle, daughter of Mrs. Lavelle and the late Mr. Lavelle, became the bride of Francis Eugene Doyle, of Newmarket, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doyle of Newmarket.

Rev. Canon H. F. D. Woodcock officiated at the ceremony, which was performed at Christ church, Deer Park.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Charles Rogers, and wore her travelling costume, which was a bottle green ensemble trimmed with silver fox, off-the-face hat in the same shade and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of bronze orchids. The couple were unattended.

A reception was held after the ceremony for the immediate families, at the home of the bride's mother on Ridge Drive. After a motor trip in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle will reside in Newmarket.

WINKWORTH - MCBRIDE

A pretty wedding took place in York Presbyterian church, Toronto on Oct. 23, when Lois Ann McBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McBride, became the bride of Ivan Roy Winkworth, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Winkworth of Newmarket. The attendants were Miss Evelyn Mantle and Mr. John McBride, brother of the bride. Rev. D. P. Rowland performed the ceremony.

After a motor trip in the north, Mr. and Mrs. Winkworth will live in Newmarket.

A paid-in-advance subscription list means a better local newspaper.

COURT CASES DISCUSSED

As a result of discussion at the council meeting on Monday evening, Deputy-Reeve C. A. Malloy was instructed to hire canvassers to obtain signatures on the petition for completion of the central Ontario highway.

A telephoned invitation was received from Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales of Newmarket, inviting the council to participate in a banquet to those whom it was desired to interest in the highway.

"I don't think we can accept," the mayor told the council. "There have been suggestions that we hold a similar banquet here."

It was felt that if the Aurora council helped sponsor the Newmarket banquet, the guests might assume there was a general agreement on the location of the highway.

The mayor sought the advice of the council on the matter of what cases should be sent to the Newmarket police court.

"We get 60 per cent of our fines when they are paid into a Toronto court," the mayor said.

"The Newmarket court does not pay that much," Town Clerk M. L. Andrews stated.

ORANGEMEN TO SHARE IN AURORA ANNIVERSARY

United Empire L.O.L. No. 643 held its 50th anniversary meeting in Aurora on Thursday evening. The brethren were honored by a visit by the district officers of East Gwillimbury.

As 1938 is Aurora's jubilee year, it was decided to hold a July 12 celebration here next summer. The committee in charge were instructed to co-operate with the town committee in charge of the jubilee celebrations.

"I suggest that you, as chief magistrate, decide the matter," Councilor Jones advised.

"We should send cases to the court that gives us the most of the fine," said Mayor Boulding. "Where it is a matter of convenience, we may send them to Newmarket. I cannot see the justice in sending Toronto cases to Newmarket."

"Newmarket wants the attorney-general to rule that all cases go to Newmarket. It doesn't matter to me. Let's not be petty about it. We'll continue as we are until we hear from the attorney-general."

"What is being done about the location of police offices?" the mayor was asked.

"It is apparently being left to the county council to decide," the mayor answered.

ABOUT TOWN

WOMEN AND MULES

All week we have been toying with the idea of starting an "advice to the lovelorn" or "help for the heart-sick" column. We didn't expect to make any money at it, but think of all the letters we get. We like getting letters, if they are not from creditors, and each night we went to sleep, serene and happy in anticipation of all the brunette letters we'd receive, and maybe the odd blonde postcard too—who knows?

We Read a Paper

And now it's all spoiled. We looked at a big-town paper the other day—though we should know better by now—and we saw something that knocked our idea into the old vacuum, temporarily, at least.

Because we've got to study mules. The paper said so. Here is the heading of the story— "Mules Just Like Women." In "Opinion of Trainer Who Understands Them." For a while we pondered on why it should be that mules just like women. . . . then we realized that wasn't the idea at all.

What the writer was trying to say was that women and mules are alike—in opinion of trainer who understands them. We are still in the dark as to whether it was women or mules whom the trainer professed to understand. The story itself does little to remove our doubts. "Mules are affectionate," he says. "You just have to treat them the right way."

How to Influence Mules

So, to play safe, we're going to study mules. "Mules, like women, have to be coaxed, not driven," the story states. "Just coax them along and you'll find them turning circles . . . just to please you."

The story fails to tell what is to be gained by coaxing a mule or a woman to turn circles. If we had a mule we would be content with semi-circles—unless, of course, we wanted a mule to spin top or something. Silly, isn't it?

As far as women are concerned, if we could coax one to darn our socks . . . we'd be quite happy to turn some circles ourselves. So we're going to study mules. Maybe we'll learn something.

Night-Life of a Newsmen

We went to the theatre the other night. It was dandy. We saw the feature. That gave us more than our money's worth. Then came the short features . . . and we figured we owed the proprietor another admission. One of the shorts we liked was about the Frenchman who wrote the "Marseillaise"—which, along with "Men of Harlech" and "On, Wisconsin," represents the tops in battle songs. Well, we think so anyway.

The name of the composer of the "Marseillaise" is Rouget de l'Isle—which for some reason reminds us more of stockings than of battle ballads. The song was written at a time when the French army was more than a little fed-up. The boys wanted to go home and plant gardens.

Right Song, Wrong Direction

The generals decided, therefore, that the soldiers should have a raise in pay or a new marching song. And so, of course, they got the marching song. And they marched away. Unfortunately, a lot of disgruntled civilians heard the marching song and they marched away, too . . . but in the other direction. They called it the French revolution.

The English, who are not quite as stupid as some other nations might hope, have learned something from the French. They are not worrying about a lack of marching songs . . . they are merely waiting to make sure that all the people will march in the same direction. Up till now, it's been just a little doubtful.

Hence Anthony Eden.

CONGREGATION HEARS APPEAL

"It makes me feel right at home," Rev. C. F. McIntosh told the congregation at the United church on Sunday morning, commenting on an appeal for funds to help retire the church's mortgage, made by Dr. C. J. Devins.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh exchanged pulpits with Rev. Dr. E. J. Thompson last Sunday, to permit the latter to address the anniversary services held in the former's church in Orangeville.

A $5,000 mortgage, with a sinking fund of only $600, formed the basis of the problem which the church had to face, Dr. Devins told the congregation. He suggested that a special appeal be made to the "hit-or-miss" contributors, those who seldom attend church, but who made full use of the facilities offered by the church.

WE'RE SORRY

Lack of space this week has made it necessary to leave out several items of Aurora news. They are being carried over to next week.

VETERANS PLAN PARADE MAKE POPPY DAY APPEAL

The annual church parade of the Aurora Veterans will be held on Sunday afternoon. Veterans will meet in the town park at 2:30 p.m., dressed in mufti, berets and medals. They will march to the Salvation Army hall, where they will be addressed by Brigadier R. Spooner of Toronto. The Lippincott Street Band of Toronto will provide music.

Saturday is "poppy day" and on Saturday, Aurorians will be given an opportunity to aid the disabled veterans who are employed in the Veterans Industries across Canada. An appeal originating from the Ontario Provincial Poppy Committee reads in part:

"Canada, along with the whole empire, has adopted the poppy as a symbol for Remembrance Day, because of the 60,000 graves in France and Belgium in which lie the dead of the preceding generation; because of the 170,000 Canadians to whom the conflict brought disablement of one kind or another."

"On Poppy Day this dominion pauses in its normal activities to recall the sacrifices of its men and to pay tribute to their heroism . . . all Canadians of every age and degree should wear a symbol on Poppy Day."

CATHOLICS TO HOLD EUCHE

The Catholic Women's League of Aurora is opening its 1937-38 season with an evening of euche in Mechanics' Hall on Tuesday, Nov. 16. A large number of prizes are being offered.

The society was formed in December, 1936, with the object of supplying clothing and food for the poor of the community. In February of this year they held a euche and bridge for the purpose of carrying on this work.

Officers of the society are: Miss Agnes McCabe, president; Miss Nina Elmsley, vice-president; Miss Eleanor Minton, treasurer.

BUSY SESSION FACES COUNCIL

"We may be coming to the time when we will have to meet every two weeks," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding told the council on Monday, when they surveyed the amount of business to be dealt with before the end of the year.

It was decided that a further meeting should be held next Monday evening. The matter of the town's liability insurance and the greatly increased premium imposed because of the losses in the past year, will be decided upon at that time.

A request for the free use of Mechanics' Hall on Sunday evening for a concert by a Salvation Army band from Toronto was received from Captain Watts. The band will be playing for the Veterans' church service on Sunday afternoon, and would like to give a concert after the time of the regular church evening services, the request intimated.

"Didn't we refuse a reduced rate for the hall for a dancing school?" Councilor John Stuart asked. "I think we should stick to the regular rate, especially in winter time, when it involves considerable expense."

"If it involves expense, should we vote it to one denomination? This may set a precedent. I move the usual charge be made," Mr. Stuart said.

An invitation was received from Richmond Hill, inviting the councillors to attend their Armistice services on Nov. 14.

The following accounts were passed for payment: electric light; materials, $37.99; hydro power for September, $2,520.90; Canadian General Electric Co., $4.05; Bell Telephone Co., $2.50; stamps and express, $1.35; Banner Press, $49.98.

Water works: E. C. Mingey, $60; Bell Telephone Co., $3.37; Canada Brass Co., $155.13; express, $3.57; Banner Press, $43.31.

Relief supplies: medical, $4.55; W. Sawdon, $4.00; W. Williamson, $9.60; Aurora General store, $25.04; Patterson's Bakery, $1; Caruso's fruit store, $30; Stiver Bros., $50; Knowles and Sons, $5.57; F. W. Teasdale, $2.50; B. F. Davis, $22; county hospital, $104.50; Aurora Hardware, $8.59; Walter's service station, $10.08; Dr. G. W. Williams, $10; Dr. C. J. Devins, $10; Aurora Building Co., $33.94; Banner Press, $327.13; Ough & Son, $5.03; Dr. C. R. Boulding, $14; A. Fleury, $5.

Declare Nov. 11 Whole Holiday

Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will be a whole-day holiday in Aurora, it was decided at the council meeting on Monday night.

The Aurora Veterans will hold a service at the cenotaph on Thursday morning. They will meet in the armories at 10.15 a.m. and the march will begin at 10.30.

The Boys' Band will supply music for the service at the cenotaph for the march will be played by the Richmond Hill bugle band.

At the cenotaph the Veterans will be addressed by Sir William Mulock.

In addition to their church service here on Sunday afternoon, the veterans plan to join with the veterans of Newmarket in a morning service to be held there.

DONORS THANKED

The committee in charge of the National Emergency Relief wish to acknowledge the following contributions: Mrs. J. L. Barnard, $1; Mrs. J. L. Grey, $5.

REVISION COURT HOLDS SITTING

Three pleas for lowered assessments were heard on Monday evening by the court of revision. On a motion sponsored by Reeve Bert Knowles and Councilor L. C. Lee, a reduction of $200 was made in the assessed value of the house owned by F. W. Devins on Tyler St.

"There is no sidewalk on my side of the street," Mr. Freeman pointed out. "The road is a poor one and in winter time it is seldom cleared of snow. I had to buy 600 lengths of tile to drain my basement. The property is assessed at an amount in excess of what I paid for it."

On the two other properties, one belonging to the T. J. Lonnex estate, and one owned by Mrs. C. Burchard, the assessment will remain unchanged, the court decided. A property belonging to C. H. Sheppard was added to the assessment rolls.

TOWN WILL BUY POWER METERS

A desire to better the standing of the town's light department, and the fact that there was no means of knowing the amount of power used for industrial purposes, led to a resolution moved by Councilor J. Stuart, that the town purchase seven meters at the cost of $116.49 each. The meters will be installed in the factories.

Correspondence has revealed that the town is purchasing power on a sound basis and attempts are now being made to find a more equitable distribution of the cost.

PLANS COURSE IN NEEDLECRAFT

The October meeting of the Aurora Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. John Kees, Mark St., on Thursday last week. After a short business session, the meeting turned into a Halloween party.

Mrs. Shane won a prize in a Halloween contest and Mrs. Richard McDonald won first prize for the best fancy costume. A dainty lunch was served.

On Wednesday of last week the local members visited the Queensville branch and put on the program for their hostesses. Mrs. E. Killingsworth gave an interesting paper on the origin of Thanksgiving day.

Mrs. Fierheller and Mrs. Borden sang solos, and a paper entitled "Can women stand disputation better than men?" was given by Mrs. Gray. A musical contest wound up the program. Lunch was served by members of the Queensville W.I.

The Aurora branch of the W.I. are sponsoring a short course in needlecraft from Nov. 15 to Nov. 19 inclusive. The course is under the direction of Miss Evelyn Frisch. Anyone wishing to take the course is asked to register with the secretary, Mrs. George Walker, Catherine St.

KETTLEBY SUPPER MAKES GREAT SUCCESS

Nearly 500 people including residents of Newmarket, Aurora, Queensville, Mount Albert and as far distant as Sunderland, enjoyed the splendid turkey dinner held at the Kettleby Anglian hall on Wednesday night, Oct. 27. This increasingly popular event, held annually under the auspices of the ladies' guild, reveals an amazing tendency to become bigger, and if possible, better every year. The ladies are to be congratulated upon the sumptuous meal provided, and upon the excellence of their organization in serving so large a number of guests.

Following the supper which was served in the basement, a concert program was given by the Wyehwood Presbyterian choir of Toronto, under the direction of Gordon Brown, choir-master. The program, which was of an exceptionally high order, included sacred and secular choral selections, solos by Mrs. Nichol and Miss Isabel Beard, and humorous readings by Miss Hannah, assisting educationist, a reader of outstanding ability and charm.

BANDS' VALUE STRESSED

Dr. G. W. Williams, P. M. Thompson and W. C. King formed a deputation which appeared before the council on Monday evening on behalf of the Boys' Band. They asked the council to submit a by-law to the ratepayers at the next municipal election to raise $500 a year, for three years, for the band.

"Some of the councillors may want to know the use to which this money will be put," Councilor Lorne Lee suggested.

"We have to have a band-master," Dr. Williams explained. I believe the boys will be a real credit to the town. I am told they have already been asked to fill an engagement."

"Have arrangements been made to keep the present band-master for a definite length of time?" asked Deputy-Reeve C. A. Malloy.

"I believe he will stay with the band," Dr. Williams stated. "We have no contract yet."

"Forty dollars a month seems pretty high," Councilor Stuart said.

"This is a town band," P. M. Thompson stated. "The boys will not receive any remuneration. They will be available for any function of the town. We want the grant to enable us to teach other boys. Every man will have the opportunity to place his son in this band. It costs money for a good leader. If you go to the concert, I think you will agree that we have a good leader. I don't like grants but I think this is a fair way to find out the wishes of the people."

"Lots of people helped build the arena, though they had no children to skate," Mr. Thompson reminded the meeting.

The council made no definite decision on the matter. The solicitor was asked to prepare a by-law so that it could pass its various readings in time for the election, if such a course were decided upon at a future meeting of the council.

A petition was being circulated on behalf of the by-law, the deputation stated. "If this was signed by 15 per cent of the ratepayers, the by-law would have to be put to the vote, the town solicitor advised."

UNITED CHURCH PLANS ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

The Aurora United church will hold its anniversary services on Sunday. Rev. W. A. Hunnisett of Toronto will be the special speaker at the morning service and the regular minister, Dr. E. J. Thompson, will speak in the evening.

Guest Artists Will Assist Boys' Band With Concert

Aided and abetted by assisting artists from Toronto the Boys' Band will display its wares in a public concert to be given in Mechanics' Hall on Friday, Nov. 12. And if the rumors of the band's ability are true, there will be a lot of proud parents in Aurora that night.

Much of the credit for this splendid musical organization goes to Bandmaster Robert Moore. Mr. Moore has had a long and varied musical training, and he has taken an enthusiastic interest in the local boys.

Born in Durham, England, in 1880, Mr. Moore started his own musical career as a chorister in the local parish church at the age of nine. He has been bandmaster of several bands in Scotland and England. With the Chatham Town municipal band he gave a request performance at Windsor Castle, the only performance to be given there by a non-military band.

He came to Canada in 1913 as musical director of the Royal Canadian Engineers. He enlisted as bandmaster with the 20th Battalion, C.E.F., in 1915 and was senior bandmaster of the C.E.F. in France, Belgium and Germany.

He was chosen to lead the peace parade in London, England, in 1919. He was the only bandmaster who left Canada and returned with the same band, and conducted it as a professional band for a season. In 1922 he took over the Smith's Falls senior and boys' bands. During his stay there $25,000 was spent on these bands. He came to Toronto six years ago as director of music for the Royal Grenadiers, which position he held until the amalgamation with the Toronto Regiment. Last June he took charge of a group of boys in Aurora. The result will be heard on Friday of next week.

Mrs. S. C. King and children of Scotland, who have been visiting with the former's mother, Mrs. Switzer, for the past ten days, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Allen of Aurora on Sunday.

Mrs. L. Carr and daughters, Misses Alda and Dorothy, spent a few days of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carr.

Not every sane man could improve upon the response of a Chinese who, said to be insane, was being questioned by a doctor.

"Do you have any illusions?" asked the doctor.

"What are they?" asked the Chinese through the interpreter.

"Why," explained the doctor, "do you ever hear voices?"

"Oh, yes."

"When?"

"Whenever someone talks to me," was the entirely sane reply. "I see, you carry the baby and let me have the eggs. You might drop them."

THE FURROW'S END

BY LEONARD HARMAN

Advance the Hand Crafts

We have visited two centres of arts and crafts this week. Miss Blodwen Davies had an idea which she wished to discuss with a group invited to the Children's Art Centre, located in the rear of Toronto Art Gallery. Then Mr. Rudy Renzius and Mr. Alvin Hills of the Pickering College staff had been invited to visit the craft shop at Kingsley Farm. We acted as a chauffeur party for Mr. Renzius and Mr. Hills on both these trips and at the same time made our observations and suggestions.

At the meeting in Toronto Miss Davies and Mr. Arthur Lismer, noted educational supervisor of Toronto Art Gallery, led a discussion on children's toys for the nursery schools and the possibility of having them made by local craft groups. It was suggested that such toys, now manufactured by commercial companies, are unsuitable and expensive. At Pickering College craft-shop we have adequate equipment and able instructors; perhaps the craft groups meeting Monday evenings at Pickering College, the production of some of these toys. Such a plan would have the double purpose of providing toys for the children and craft training for the workers. At the same time the money now being paid for the toys could be used to buy the work of our amateur craftsmen.

Kingsley Farm is an expanse of 400 acres at Vaudor, some four miles east of Aurora. The large farmhouse accommodates 50 unemployed men of advanced years who are sent out from the hostels in Toronto. These men occupy themselves on the farm and premises according to their abilities. Ten acres of garden which provide vegetables for the hostel and for others in Toronto is a field of endeavor for many of them during the summer months. But on wet cold days there is little occupation for their hands.

The manager of this institution has been interesting the men in hand crafts. A small basement room has been equipped with some simple benches and tools. Seven men of the 50 take a keen interest in the new shop. Very creditable articles have been made in spite of the lack of any skilled instruction. When we entered this improvised shop one of the men was making some ornamental hinges of iron. Another was shaping a block of wood. Before we left we lost Mr. Hills and found him helping a wood-worker to sharpen a chisel.

A party of four men from Kingsley Farm will enter the extension craft groups meeting Monday evenings at Pickering College. These people are, in some respects, the best prospects for the craft groups that we have not contacted. While they have not the future that is youth's, they have a keen interest, a native talent, and an abundance of time. On the other hand, our young people from farm and town who have been coming to the craft shop have full-time occupations which tax their energies. These older men at Kingsley Farm might prove to be the ideal people to make the toys required by nursery schools.

looked so funny walking, as we see them only flying, or hanging by one leg in some dark place under a roof.

I kept the little dead bat to examine it. It was like black silk velvet, so soft and dead black. Its little wings were ribbed like an umbrella, and it had a wee mouse-like head. Just why the bat was associated with the witch for Halloween I do not know, unless because of its black color and mysterious night prowling. However, a bat is a friend after all—devouring mosquitoes and flies and gnats.

Bats

BY DELPHINIUM

At the lunch following the W.M.S. at the United church a week ago, Miss Hilda Patton, hostess, provided Halloween serviettes in orange and black. Black cats and kittens consisting largely of tails and whiskers decorated the corners. The old witch with her broomstick, black cat, and over her shoulder, a bat, occupied one large corner.

We were careful in the use of these beautiful, weird squares of paper taking them home as souvenirs. I said I would take mine because of the bat. My neighbor held up her hands over her hair as though a bat was in danger of being entangled in it. "Oh, I wouldn't have a bat near me. They should be killed. Oh! Oh!"

"Why we have a colony of them," I replied. "We wouldn't be without them." They are harmless, and when you see them fly around on a summer's night, they are not trying to get at your hair, they are catching mosquitoes and flies. A bat has been known to catch and devour two hundred mosquitoes in a night. So what splendid things they are to have around! They are as frightened as you are if they catch in your hair while on flight after a mosquito that is buzzing near your ear.

Our colony of bats have their home around a dormer window, in an ornament at the top apparently. I do not suppose we could dislodge them if we tried. One day, I raised that window suddenly to clean it. Two young bats were dislodged and fell to the sill. One, about an inch square, was killed in the fall. The other scuttled along, off the sill into the verandah roof where finally it disappeared down a crack. It

KING COUNCIL ACCEPTS SPECIAL AUDIT REPORTS

All members were present at a meeting of the King township council at King City on Saturday.

Dr. C. J. Devins was paid $8 for services as per an order of Reeve Jefferson.

On motion of Councillors Thos. MacMurchy and C. E. Walkington, the Globe Indemnity Company was requested to cancel the bonds of Aileen Ferguson and to refund the balance of premium on the said policy for balance of the year.

On motion of Councillors E. M. Legge and Thos. MacMurchy, the clerk was authorized to accept from C. Black $2.50 for privilege sold from the township pit.

WILL HELP IN QUEBEC SERIES

Rev. J. R. Armstrong is going to Buckingham, Quebec, this week to help in a series of evangelistic services in that place. Mr. Armstrong expects to be away a couple of weeks.

The services next Sunday will be taken by Alex Wyse of the Toronto Baptist Seminary.

Y.P.S. meetings and prayer meeting will be combined for the next few weeks. The first part of the meeting will be in charge of George Coater, president of the Y.P.S., and the latter part will be in charge of Harry Knights.

Mrs. J. R. Armstrong is going to stay with her parents at Waterford while Mr. Armstrong is in Quebec.

The Quebec meeting will be held next Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. Knights, instead of at Mrs. Armstrong's as was planned. Roll call to be answered by a verse with a text with the word "trust."

Mr. Laurie Facey had dinner with Pat Maloney last Sunday at the home of Mrs. A. Knights.

Mrs. Plummer is still suffering from a heavy cold.

Word received from Mr. Jack Knights at Kapuskasing, on Oct. 25, says everything is frozen up and they are using the sleighs in that district.

ART OF MAKING TEA

To get the utmost in flavour and quality from tea is an art, but it is an art in which anyone can produce a masterpiece by following these simple directions:

Run the cold tap a few seconds
before filling your kettle (never use stale water or water from the hot tap). See that the water is boiling furiously and not just steaming. Scald out a crockery tea-pot, measure in to it a teaspoonful of good quality tea for each person and one for the pot, add the boiling water and steep for five minutes before serving.

The decrepit old car rolled up to the toll bridge.

"Fifty cents," called out the gatemaster.

"Sold," replied the driver.

TREASURE HUNT

- By Barbara Webb

CHAPTER 28

A Spurned-Kiss Tragedy

Lindy Lou's first impulse was to lock the door of her room, tell any one who knocked that she was in bed, and would see no one. Her second impulse, born of real heartache over the ending of her adventure, was to see Lee for a few minutes only, but to assure him in those few minutes that she had a feeling of friendship for him and always would have. Besides it would be cowardly to refuse to see him, and at this thought Lindy Lou's chin went up in the old familiar fashion, and she ran to the bureau to brush her hair, and repair the ravages tears had left on her cheeks and eyes. For Lindy Lou had been crying.

For a girl who wanted to part friends only with a young man, Lindy Lou took a good deal of care over these things. She was making up her face with great skill when the expected knock came at the door.

"What is it?" called Lindy Lou. "Gentleman to see you, miss," the porter answered. "Mr. Lee. He says he has a name in the 'waitin' downstairs in the parlor."

"Tell him I am coming down," Lindy Lou took out a pale green knitted dress from her bag, one she hadn't worn at Twinoaks at all. She put on fresh stockings and black pumps with cunning buckled straps, and pulled a green knitted beret to match her dress down over her bright hair.

Then, looking as though she hadn't a care in the world, she marched down the stairs.

"Why, hello, there," she said, advancing upon Lee with what she felt was the utmost nonchalance.

Lee jumped to his feet and held out his hand, but there was astonishment on his face. If he had expected a tearful or an angry or a sullen girl, he had the surprise of his life, for Lindy Lou was smiling, her dimples were showing and to all appearances she had expected him and was glad to see him.

"Hi-Hello yourself, Lindy Lou," he managed to say. "I just thought I'd drive over and see that you were all right."

"I am," said Lindy Lou. "And—say good-by."

"Good-by," said Lindy Lou and then she laughed and Lee laughed with her and the atmosphere grew friendly and easy once.

"Have you had your supper?" Lee asked.

"My goodness," said Lindy Lou. "I forgot all about it. I had to pack at Mrs. Jackson's and run to make that train. And since I got here I've been busy about—things. I haven't had a bite."

"Well, there's a small roadhouse about two miles drive from here, not much of a place, but there is good food there. How about coming along with me? I haven't had supper, either."

"I think that would be grand," said Lindy Lou. "Let's go."

All through the drive out there Lindy Lou chattered. She talked the gayest kind of nonsense, mostly about the people at the boarding house. Lee said very little, but when it was necessary to fill in pauses he came through with conversation in kind and they reached the roadhouse without having touched on a serious subject. But if Lindy Lou thought to get through the whole evening that way she was mistaken, for after they had finished their supper Lee took her back to the car and instead of driving to the country hotel, headed out into the country. At the top of a little hill, looking over a rich, fertile valley he stopped.

"We can see the sunset from here," he told Lindy Lou. She followed him out of the car to the very crest of the hill in a neighboring meadow. The last rays of the sun were sinking down the valley and the air was full of the sweet twilight stillness that belongs to this time of the day.

Lee spread a rug from the car on the grass. The scent of clover rose around them. Far off a cow-bell tinkled and Lindy Lou, making herself comfortable on the rug, gave a long sigh. Lee sat down beside her and took her hand.

"Now, Lindy Lou, he said. Lindy Lou freed her hand gently. "Yes, Lee."

"I want to know what you're going to do."

"About what?"

"About Anton."

Lindy Lou pulled a blade of grass and bit at the tender end, she resolved not to make it easy for Lee, to stall for time was the best way out of this for them both, she felt. So she countered with another question, "What about Anton?"

Lee could be stubborn, too. "Just about Anton."

"You will see him, then?"

"Yes, as soon as I get back to New York."

"And what will you say to him?"

"I shall ask for his side of the story. You seem to forget, Lee, that there are always two sides to any story. I'm not going to condemn any man, least of all one whom I'm engaged to, without giving him a chance to square himself. That wouldn't be fair, Lee. You know that. And then, too, don't forget that I'm terribly fond of Anton. He's been a sort of ideal to me for a long time and I was in seventh heaven when he asked me to marry him."

A girl like me, Lee, doesn't change around with every fickle thought. I've a sort of faithful heart, I guess."

"I see. There was a long pause while Lee tried to read Lindy Lou's face. But the twilight was deepening and already she was only a soft white blur in the gathering darkness. At last he said, "You believe in giving every man his chance, then, Lindy Lou?"

"Yes, Lee."

"Then give me mine. Let me tell you before you leave how I feel, will you, Lindy Lou?"

"Yes, Lee," the answer was very low.

"When I first saw you there at Twinoaks I thought you were just the same happy-go-lucky kid grown up that I had known when your family lived here. But when I came over that evening and saw you in that old dress of your grandmother's, well, something happened to me that moment, Lindy Lou, and it's been happening harder and harder ever since. Do you know what happened to me, Lindy Lou?"

"What happened to you, Lee?"

"I fell in love with you and not even your telling me of your engagement could stop me, Lindy Lou. I never thought that I would ever try to take another man's girl away from him. I've always said it was a dishonorable thing to do, just like making love to another man's wife. But you laid a spell on me, Lindy Lou. And I haven't been able to break it. Oh so many things—like your singing to keep up your courage that night when you were locked in at Twinoaks—such a gallant thing to do, Lindy Lou. And seeing you on horseback, sitting so straight and riding so bravely. And dancing with you, and seeing your eyes shine when you saw me. You belong here, Lindy Lou. Not back in the city. Don't go. Lindy Lou, don't go."

"I must, Lee. I'm terribly sorry—but I must."

"Then tell me this, Lindy Lou. Answer just this one question for me, and answer it fairly and squarely. Are you going to marry Anton?"

"Are you going to marry Anton?" Lee repeated, and the question hung in the air between them, almost as though it were written there.

Lindy Lou stood up, and Lee got to his feet beside her. Lindy Lou put out both her hands and Lee took them and held them quietly.

Finally Lindy Lou spoke, "I would like to tell you yes or no, Lee, to that question. But you asked me to answer fairly and squarely and so I'll just have to say what is true. I don't know whether I am going to marry Anton or not. And that is all I can tell you now."

By mutual consent they turned and walked back to the car. When they reached it Lindy Lou stopped and faced Lee. She held her face up to him and asked, "Would you like to kiss me, Lee?"

He bent down until his face nearly touched hers, then, "No, Lindy Lou. Not that way," and Lindy Lou knew what he meant. They drove back to the hotel in complete silence. At the door Lee helped Lindy Lou out and went with her to the parlor. There he shook hands with her to a formal and wished her a good journey. Then he turned and walked out through the door, and Lindy Lou felt, out of her life.

CHAPTER 29

The Return From the Hunt

She had thought she could not sleep that night, but exhaustion claimed her the minute she got into bed, and it was broad daylight when she woke. Her watch said 7:30 and Lindy Lou jumped up and dressed and packed and went down to breakfast in the dingy hotel dining room. There she was stared at by some traveling salesman and regarded with great curiosity by the regular guests.

Just before she left for the train a messenger arrived with books and magazines and a rather wilted bunch of roses. There was no card, but Lindy Lou knew they came from Lee.

She was touched by the gift. The magazines were new, but the books had evidently stood a long time on the shelf, and the slightly faded flowers bore witness to the fact that the junction did not sport any very up-to-the-minute florist. But it was good to know that Lee still thought of her, and Lindy Lou took comfort from the package.

She settled herself in the Pullman and sat staring out the window as the country slipped past. Rolling farms, well kept, like the Beeches, and straggling places, abandoned like Twinoaks. Forsaken little towns that the express roared through without stopping, and slightly larger ones where a crowd of curious whites and blacks gathered to stare at the one event in their day.

There were points to city living, Lindy Lou thought. Always something to do, some place to go. Always people to have at parties, girls and boys to talk to. And then, too, Lindy Lou thought of life at the Beeches. Seedtime and harvest time, horses to ride, an old house to cherish. Yes, Lee could be happy there. He liked it. It was the life he knew and understood.

Lindy Lou found she couldn't think clearly at all this morning. When she thought of getting home it was mostly of her father and mother. Anton seemed very far away, even though the train took her minute by minute closer to him. She had wired him the time of her arrival, but hardly expected him to meet the train. They got in very early the next morning and Lindy Lou couldn't picture Anton getting up and out by 7.

At this point she thought of how Lee had come to her at 6, to get in an early morning ride before he went to the Beeches to put in a hard day's work on the farm.

"But then Lee thinks 11 o'clock at night is late to be up, and for Anton the evening is just beginning then."

Lindy Lou got through the long day somehow. She read the magazines, finished one of the books, played with a child on the train, went out to the dining car at meal-times and with thankfulness saw the shadows gather and bedtime arrive. She slept fitfully and long before the train rolled into the terminal she was up and dressed. She sat in the corner of a vacant seat and saw the New Jersey suburbs slide by.

She felt a thrill to be coming back to New York. The five years she had lived there made her feel the tolerant amused affection that almost all its inhabitants have for it. They ran into the tunnels, the train slowed to a stop, and Lindy Lou, preceded by the porter climbed the stairway.

She followed the red-cap into the vast station itself, looking about eagerly for a familiar face. She had not expected her father or mother to be down, but she had clung to a hope that Anton might be there. Or even Joe, though he hated to be up early as badly as Anton himself.

But there was no one she knew in sight. Telling the porter to check her bags, Lindy Lou went to a telephone booth and called her home.

"Lindy Lou, honey, when did you get here?" her mother's fluttering voice answered.

"Just now. How's papa?"

"Oh, much better, and we're both dying to know all about Threeforks. How soon will you be home?"

"In about an hour, I think. Before noon, anyway."

"Is Anton with you?"

"No, mamma, but I may see him before I come home."

"All right, honey, but don't stay too long. We're so anxious to see you and hear all the news."

Lindy Lou hung up and considered. Should she call Anton now or wait a little? She decided to have breakfast first and went to a nearby counter for coffee and toast.

Then, feeling better, she went to telephone Anton at the apartment she knew he shared with another young man.

A very sleepy voice answered her at a prolonged ringing. "Hello," it said grumpily.

"Anton?"

"Yes, who is it?"

"This is Lindy Lou, Anton."

"Oh, Lindy Lou. Say, darling, I'm sorry. I meant as much as anything to meet you. But, say, this is good. I went to bed early last night so as to get up and meet your train and going to sleep early made me sleep so hard that I didn't even hear the alarm. Where are you now?"

"At Pennsylvania Station, and I'm going on out home now, Anton." Lindy Lou didn't believe a word he said.

"Don't do that, darling. Wait a little while and I'll come down for you. I've got to be at the office today, but I'll be late. It won't be the first time. Gee, I'm crazy to see you."

"I think I'll go on, Anton. You can come out to the house this evening."

"Okay then. And say, Lindy Lou, couldn't you chase the old folks out? I want to have you alone. We've got four weeks of loving to make up, you know."

Lindy Lou winced. His words were hateful to her and she would have preferred not to see him at all. But she had some matters to straighten out with him and she wanted to see him again. Perhaps, seeing him, she might bring back the old thrill of the days when she had adored him, had lived for a look or a word from him. So she said quietly, "I'll see that we are left alone, Anton. Papa is still weak, you know, but we can have the living room to ourselves."

"How about stepping out?" Anton asked.

"No," said Lindy Lou. "I'll see you at home—come about 8 and I'll be ready for you." And with this arrangement Anton had to be content.

Lindy Lou was warmly welcomed at home. She had decided to make a clean breast of her reasons for going to Twinoaks, and she told the story to an astonished father and mother, leaving out Anton's part in the affair and relating merely her unsuccessful search for treasure.

Mr. Hillcrest shook his head when she had finished. "I could have told you it would be a wild-goose chase, Lindy Lou. The Hillcrest never had any money to hide. I knew all the deeds to the house had been hidden at the time of the war and had never been found. I just supposed they had been burned or lost and never made any great effort to find them. It used to trouble my grandfather, but he didn't mind. No one has wanted Twinoaks for a long time."

Lindy Lou told them something of what Lee had done at the Beeches and they were interested and proud of him.

"He was always a homely sort of boy," said Mrs. Hillcrest. "Fow-headed and freckled."

"He's got to be pretty good-looking now," said Lindy Lou, moving to defend him, "and he was mighty nice to me, and everybody down there thinks the world and all of him. They say they're going to send him to Congress some day, and he's really done wonders on his place."

They spent the day gossiping and Lindy Lou found it peaceful to be home with people who asked nothing more of her than just to be there with them. She found that Joe was off on his fishing trip, and when she rather hesitantly asked her mother if she could have the living room to herself when Anton came that evening Mrs. Hillcrest said yes at once.

"I remember how it was when your papa came courting me," she said. "You go take a little nap and pretty yourself up for this evening."

But Lindy Lou couldn't take a nap, and she felt very little inclination to pretty herself. She couldn't think through to the evening at all, not even be sure of what she would say to Anton when he came. At the last moment she asked her mother to let Anton in and remain for a few minutes talking with them. Mrs. Hillcrest was astonished but willing, and so Anton spent the first five minutes of his call being polite to Lindy Lou's mother.

Lindy Lou sat and looked at him. He was handsome, no doubt of it, and she felt something of the old spell descend upon her. Women would always turn to look at Anton. His good looks were the kind that draw attention and make any woman he is with feel proud of her escort. Lindy Lou admitted to herself. Then Mrs. Hillcrest withdrew and Lindy Lou and Anton were left alone.

To Be Concluded

Several of my callers insisted on sharing with me and offered me candy from their bags of geisha girls and red-ridinghoods, mamma dolls, and cavaliers, old men and old ladies, flower girls, and chefs with white cap and apron and rolling-pin, red cross nurses, and Chinamen. I really think they should leave their calling cards!

One of the last trio to call on me had a tremendous crop of green whiskers which he said he acquired on his last visit to Africa! A second one was a pirate with big brass rings on his ears, and a big patch over his eye, which gave him a wicked air, while the third was a dandy Uncle Tom of southern fame, all black with white woolly hair, a pair of gold spectacles and a corn-cob pipe. They apologized for coming so late, but I said it was quite all right as I hadn't gone up to bed, and still had a little "hospitality" left for them.

No doubt, a few unruly ones thought liberty was license, and made nuisances of themselves; but all who called on me were just out for fun, and were having it right royally, and I was delighted to help them along.

Customer—I've come back to buy the car I was looking at yesterday.

Salesman—Fine. Now tell me, what was the one dominating thing that made you decide to buy this car?

Customer—My wife.

A paid-in-advance subscription list means a better local news-paper.

Dependable

Hundreds of homes in and around Newmarket are kept comfortable all winter long with Reading anthracite. It's clean, long burning, even burning. There is less ash and less work in furnace tending when this fuel is ordered.

We'll recommend the proper type of fuel for your heating plant, and you'll enjoy the extra savings that come with a correctly selected fuel.

Hallowe'en

By GOLDEN GLOW

Last Saturday night the children celebrated Hallowe'en—and citizens in general were glad, for we were rather afraid they intended to make it a double event, as Sunday was Oct. 31.

W. I. FROLIC IS MERRY AFFAIR

The Women's Institute entertained the children of the town and community on Saturday evening in the U.F.O. hall. There was a large crowd of the children present and also many of the parents and older boys and girls, and everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves.

Roy Stewart, in his usual clever way, had charge of the games and stunts for the children, who were all in costume and Miss Grose played the accompaniment for the marches, etc. Prizes were given for the best Halloween costumes for both children and adults. The costumes were varied, some as fairies, bridal couples, dorkies, witches and many others, and the prizes were won by some from both the town and country.

Mrs. Lyman Pearson, Mr. Tiley and George Price were the judges. The children were treated to candy and all enjoyed the lunch provided by the ladies. W. Lunau also donated cider to help pay some of the expenses. Some of the older ones enjoyed dancing after the lunch was served. The Institute wishes to thank all those who helped in any way to make the evening a success for the children.

The November meeting of the Mount Albert Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Barnes on Wednesday, Nov. 10. Will the members and others who are interested in the Institute place. This is the annual grandmothers' day and a special invitation is extended to all the grandmothers of the community to be present. Historical research is the topic for the month and the program will consist of music, demonstrations, etc., and the roll call is to be "Name something that you possess that belonged to grandmother."

Mount Albert

Dr. and Mrs. Stokes and Master John of Hanover spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stokes. Mr. and Mrs. Will Evans and children of Claremont and Mr. and Mrs. Burr of Richmond Hill were at the home of Mr. W. R. Steeper on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feasby of Sandford spent Sunday at the home of his brother, Mr. Geo. Feasby.

Mrs. Margaret Shaw, Miss L. Shaw and Miss G. Moore were weekend visitors at the home of Mrs. J. Moore.

The anniversary services in the United church on Sunday last were all that could be desired. Many friends came from far and near and the church was filled morning and evening. The preacher, Rev. Mr. Wilson, gave two splendid sermons and the choir excelled themselves under the leadership of Miss Marie Draper. In the evening, Miss Draper sang a very beautiful thanksgiving solo, accompanied at the organ by Miss Kathleen Rutledge, A.T.C.M., of Newmarket. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, colored leaves and mums.

Miss E. Leck spent Wednesday of last week with relatives in Whitby.

Mrs. B. Sinclair and Mrs. W. R. Steeper attended a meeting of the North York executive of the Women's Institute at Newmarket on Friday afternoon.

Miss Ione Sinclair, nurse-in-training at Barrie hospital, spent last week at her home at Franklin.

The new town hall is completed and the community is waiting for the grand opening.

Mrs. Cupples, Sr., who has been very ill at her home near Mount Albert is slightly better and it is hoped she will still improve.

There is no charge for birth, death or marriage announcements in The Era. Engagement notices cost 50 cents.

QUEENSVILLE BREAKS NECK IN WAGON FALL

A very serious accident occurred last Friday when Robert Johnston was thrown from a wagon, receiving a broken neck. He is in York County hospital in a serious condition. It is hoped that he will get along well. On Saturday and Monday the neighbors turned out in a "bee" to finish bringing in Mr. Johnston's roots and buckwheat.

Over 400 attended both the morning and evening anniversary services at Queensville United church last Sunday, when Rev. W. E. (Billy) Wilson delivered fine messages taking for his theme for the day, "Christianity in A Changing World." The choir rendered special music under the capable leadership of Mrs. J. L. Smith, organist and choir leader.

SERVE 539 AT SUPPER
The anniversary hot fowl supper held on Tuesday evening was a huge success. Everybody reported "a good fill of goose." Five hundred and thirty-nine attended. Following the supper a humorous lecture was given by Mr. Percy of Niagara Falls, Dr. C. R. Boulding of Aurora added to the program with two splendid solos. Everyone was waiting for a second appearance of Dr. Boulding but an engagement made it impossible for him to remain. Rev. W. E. Wilson contributed to the program, when he spoke briefly, keeping the audience laughing. Rev. C. E. Fockler extended greetings from the neighbor church at Keswick.

The writer is sorry to report the illness of Mrs. Dorothy Sedore, who underwent an operation in York County hospital last week. A speedy recovery is hoped for.

Miss Dorothy Evans of Oak Ridge is spending a few days visiting Mrs. Gordon Rowe.

There were many visitors in the village over the weekend to attend the anniversary services. Several of the men from the village have gone north deer hunting.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Durham, who were married last Sunday afternoon. A shower was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall for the happy couple.

The last meeting of the Queensville Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Pearson on Oct. 27. The Aurora Institute members were guests and brought a very good program which everyone enjoyed.

The meeting closed with God Save the King and the Queensville ladies served a lovely lunch.

Many friends and neighbors attended a shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall on Wednesday night in honor of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Durham, who received many beautiful gifts.

Holt

Farmers are busy gathering in their mangels and turnips. Perhaps Indian summer will soon be on deck now.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. S. Cupples the Halloween party has been withdrawn. Sorry to report Mrs. Cupples is not so well again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wagg and family of Uxbridge spent Sunday with Mrs. Wagg's father, Mr. Jas. Knott.

Mrs. Ada Rolling spent the weekend with her son, Carman, at Mount Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stickwood and son of Oshawa, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stickwood and family of Ballantrae were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stickwood.

Miss Geneva Babcock attended quarterly services at Belhaven over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Hoover left last week to visit their son at Elphinstown.

It is hoped there will be a good attendance at Quarterly meeting, beginning Friday night as previously announced. Come and bring your friends.

SUTTON WEST BIRD TOSSING CLUB STARTED

The badminton club held a meeting on Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the season. The officers elected are as follows: president, Dr. H. G. Leroy; vice-president, Jim Treloar; secretary-treasurer, Roger Hiscott; grounds committee, Jack Crozier.

Badminton nights are Mondays and Fridays, for the season, with Monday, November 8, the opening night.

A good number from here attended the evening anniversary service at Virginia United church on Sunday and enjoyed the message given by Rev. Morris Zeidman of Toronto.

Sutton was also well represented at the hot fowl supper on Monday, held in the basement of the church.

Mrs. Frank Doyle returned to her home here last week after visiting relatives in Scotland for a couple of months.

Miss Elizabeth Noble is spending a couple of weeks holidays at her home here.

Miss Anna McDonald spent the weekend in town.

Miss Frances Cooke visited her parents last weekend.

Plans are being made for the Sutton hockey club dance, to be held in the town hall on Thursday, Nov. 25.

Pine Orchard

Mrs. A. Lloyd of Mount Albert spent last Tuesday with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. G. Wood.

Mrs. G. McClure and Murray were in the city on Sunday to visit the former's sister, who is still in the Toronto Western hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hall of Sharon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. Kay and Mrs. N. Kay.

The Pine Orchard choir members were guests of the Presbyterian choir at a Halloween party in Newmarket last Friday night.

Quite a large number gathered at Bogartown school house last Friday evening and enjoyed a Halloween party, especially the school children. A lunch of weiners and pie was served.

Miss Forth received notice of prizes given to some pupils for their work handed in in June to be judged for the school fair. On account of the paralysis, the fair was cancelled. The results follow: art, senior fourth class, 1st, Olive Hoover; 2nd, Ina Sheridan; art and writing, senior second, Murray McClure.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper and three children, visited at Mr. C. Kennedy's at Leaskdale.

Mrs. M. Wilson attended Queensville United church hot fowl supper on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Perry of Toronto spent last week at the home of Mr. B. Dike.

Halloween was well celebrated at Pine Orchard. On Friday afternoon the school children celebrated. On Saturday evening the members of the Disciples church had a party at Charlie Brandon's home.

The November meeting of the Institute will be held on Nov. 10, at the home of Mrs. W. Williams. The peace and historical research committee will be in charge. Roll call, tell what nationality you descended from, and vow kindly thought of neighbors and nations. All members are asked to remember that a special collection will be taken at this meeting.

Glenville

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Somerville and Mr. Chester Somerville of Stouffville, visited at the home of Mr. Chas. Somerville on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. B. Flanagan, and Mrs. E. Flanagan, of Toronto, visited at F. Webster's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dutton and Rheta of Mimico spent the weekend at Mr. Wm. Koffers'.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller and Ruth of Schomberg, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Boyd of Toronto and Mrs. E. Patton of Portageville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jefferson and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Curtis of Newmarket.

Mr. and Mrs. Newman and Kenneth of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Milne of Queensville, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. T. Hodgins.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McIntosh and Miss Elsie Sharpe of Toronto spent the weekend at the latter's home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Keffer and family and Mrs. Moore of Newmarket, visited Mr. Wm. Keffer's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and Miss Bertha Macdonald of Dundalk, visited at Mr. R. Sharpe's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Woodrow of Toronto spent Sunday at Mr. A. Doan's.

Miss Owens and her pupils entertained the parents and friends at a masquerade on Friday afternoon at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gould entertained some of their friends on Friday evening.

The Halloween party held at the home of Miss Ruth Wray on Monday evening was a great success. The characters were all good, but the most outstanding were the animal trainer and bear, represented by Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Aubrey Doan and Roy Keffer as a Chinaman.

The W.A. are holding a chicken supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rogers on Thursday evening, Nov. 18. Supper will be served from 6 o'clock until all are served.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sharpe attended the hot fowl supper at Queensville on Tuesday evening.

Miss Bernice Webster, Mr. Merland Deavitt and Mr. Carl Proctor attended the Y.P.U. convention at Schomberg on Wednesday. At the convention the election of officers for the new presbytery executive was held and there was an installation service.

Merland Deavitt was re-elected as recreation convener for Toronto Centre North Presbytery.

The W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Aubrey Doan on Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance.

Mr. Merland Deavitt and Mr. Tom Watson attended the fowl supper at Queensville.

Cedar Valley

A Halloween party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandon, Jr., for the Sunday-school children of the Church of Christ on Saturday evening. An enjoyable time was spent in games.

Mrs. A. Tichbourne returned home from Toronto last Thursday afternoon, accompanied by her son, Mr. Ernest Swan, of Toronto.

Mr. Melvin Lehman spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lehman.

Miss Irene Pyle attended the high school Halloween party last Friday evening.

A good crowd was out to hear the splendid sermonettes on hope at the Church of Christ, given by Colin Widdifield and Wesley Landy on Sunday evening.

A duet given by Mrs. J. Landy and Mrs. H. Brammar was much enjoyed.

The evening service next week will be taken by Percy Hutchinson and Harry Brandon.

CO-OPERATIVE STORE WILL OPEN NEXT TUESDAY

The opening of the co-operative store in the premises recently vacated by the Red and White store, on Main St., is announced for Tuesday, Nov. 9.

The store will be operated under the name of the Yorkdale Co-operative Limited, the name having been chosen to combine the county association with the original pioneers of the Old Country co-operatives in Rockdale.

Announcement of the Newmarket store with the already successful Aurora store was effected last week. Six directors were named by each group and these elected the following officials: president, G. N. T. Widdifield, Newmarket; vice-president, Leonard Harman, Aurora; general manager, H. C. Seward, Aurora; secretary, A. M. Miller, Newmarket; treasurer, J. F. Walker, Aurora; directors, Arthur D. Evans, Edgar Dennis, A. M. Chipman, G. Frank Williams, Newmarket, and H. M. Magee, E. H. Clarke, H. D. Richards, Aurora.

One hundred and fifty members have already joined in Newmarket and district.

G. W. Purchase, who has managed the Aurora co-operative store so successfully for about three years, will take full charge of operations at the Newmarket store. He will bring with him all the co-operative traditions which have made Aurora such a success.

HUNT SERIES STARTS

The Toronto and North York Hunt starts out from Sharon next Saturday, and from Holt on Thursday, Nov. 11, and from Doan's farm, one mile east of Queensville, on the following Saturday.

A visitor to the house asked little Audrey, aged five, which member of the family she liked best.

"Mother," said the child. "And next best?"

"Little bruvver."

"And then?"

"Auntie."

Father thought this was going a bit too far, and so he had to ask:

"Well, Audrey dear, when do I come in?"

Quick as lightning came the reply:

"At two o'clock in the morning."

SCHOMBERG TOT WEARS 77 YEAR OLD ROBE

A great many people from here attended the hot turkey supper held in Christ church parish hall, Kettleby, on Wednesday evening of last week. This has become an annual affair, put on by the Anglican church there and is attended by friends from far and near.

The women's bridge club met on Tuesday afternoon last week in the Institute club room for the opening bridge game of the season, and also to present Mrs. A. Gallagher with a handsome relish dish, prior to her departure to take up her home in Bolton in the near future.

Rev. and Mrs. F. V. Abbott, also Mr. W. L. McGowan attended the Sunday-school convention in Aurora last Friday.

The United church observed their anniversary with special services last Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. The special preacher was Rev. C. W. Barrell of Woodbridge. Special music was furnished by the choir.

A baptismal service took place on Sunday morning in the Anglican church, when the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sutton, Marilyn Diane, was baptized. Rev. F. V. Abbott, pastor, officiated, with Miss O. Sutton and Mr. Ross Marchant, godparents. A seventy-seven-year-old christening robe was a unique feature. This is an heirloom in Mrs. Sutton's family, having been made by hand by the child's great-grandmother Marchant and has been worn by each generation at the christening service.

The sudden passing of Mr. Walter Lewis cast a shadow over the community on Friday. Mr. Lewis lived in Tecumseh township, near here for many years. The funeral service took place on Sunday with burial in Kettleby cemetery. The sympathy of the community is extended to his bereaved wife and family.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Jos. Hollingshead was held in the United church on Monday afternoon with interment in the Schomberg cemetery. Mrs. Hollingshead was in her 94th year and was one of Schomberg's oldest residents. She was, before her marriage, Mary Ann Proctor. Her husband, for many years postmaster, predeceased her many years ago. For some few years her home has been in North York, Ontario, with her son-in-law, Mr. Graham Pinkerton, where she died last Saturday.

Miss Katherine MacKay of Mimico is visiting Miss Lillian Foster.

The A.Y.P.A. met on Friday evening of last week. The election of officers for the coming year took place, resulting as follows: president, Miss Florence Sutton; 1st vice-president, Miss Teresa Edgar; 2nd vice-president, Miss Gladys Taylor; secretary, Miss L. Foster; treasurer, Mr. Tom Packer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Davis and family of Brampton, also Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Nixon of Malton, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Davis on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Gallagher were in Bolton on Sunday.

Miss Sarah Lloyd of Mount Albert visited her cousin, Mrs. N. Greenlee last week.

Mrs. W. McCurdy of Tottenham visited her sister, Mrs. Elgin Hastings, last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kline and family of Brampton were in town on Sunday visiting friends.

Messrs. Meredith and Dalton McManus of Toronto were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Davis.

Miss Eugene Hart of Beeton spent Sunday at her home here.

Mrs. Wm. Crawford of Kettleby spent the weekend with her aunt, Miss F. McCallum.

Miss Eileen Shipley, Toronto, was home for the weekend.

A couple of rival but friendly shopkeepers were talking things over.

"When does your opening sale close?" asked one.

Replied the other: "When your closing sale opens."

Eversley

"Golden Glow" of Newmarket paid her friend "Delphinium" a hurried visit on Saturday evening. It was brief, for she kept remembering that it was Halloween, and she visualized the hordes of gnomes and witches and black cats, which would hold her up shouting "shell out," till her prepared stock of good cookies, etc., had vanished. Possibly she would polish up "Scots Wha Hae" apples and have them ducking for them.

This seems an era of hold ups. Halloween frolics are only child's play compared to holding up a bank. The robbery of King City bank on Wednesday was so quickly and quietly done that the nearest neighbors were not aware of it. Mr. Phillips, bank manager, teller and every other position in one, acted according to directions, while Mrs. Phillips did heroic duty upstairs, phoning for help and getting the license number.

Just how anyone but an acrobat could climb that high grating is hard to imagine, for it stretched high across from wall to wall. After the former hold-up this had been built high and made a complete cage.

Eversley Young People's Society held a Halloween party on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Neill. There was a large attendance. Nearly everyone came in costume and paraded. The adults came first, younger ones next and children last. There was lots of fun and merriment. Jack Ball won the prize as a woman and Betty Ball the prize as a man. They played games and served a good lunch, and so opened the young people's for the winter season. Next Friday evening the regular literary meeting will be held at Mrs. Egan's home.

Mrs. C. M. Ash, R.N., visited her friend Miss Alice Ferguson at "Scots Wha Hae" on Friday.

The bus leaving King nightly for St. John's church, Yonge St., has been well patronized, being well filled by the time it reaches the church. The services have been very helpful. The questions to which Prof. Isherwood replies, prove very helpful and his addresses on "What Matters" are masterpieces. Rev. Mr. Worrall is to be congratulated on arranging this mission and it is hoped that a great uplift in spiritual life will result.
